WAR DEPARTMENT,
WASHINGTON, June 7—10:15 P. M.

Maj.-Gen. Dix:

Dispatches from headquarters, Army of the Potomac, dated 9 o'clock this morning, have been received. An assault was made on Burnside about midnight, and successfully repulsed. In the preceding afternoon, a hundred picked men of the enemy made a rush to find out what was the meaning of Hancock's advancing siege lines. Nine of the party were captured, and the rest killed or driven back.

Several letters have passed between Gen. GRANT and Gen. LEE in respect to collecting the dead and wounded between the two armies. Gen. GRANT in the closing letter, regrets that all his efforts "for alleviating the sufferings of wounded men left on the field, have been rendered nugatory."

Two rebel officers and six men, sent out to search for the wounded of their commands, were captured in consequence of the enemy not delivering Gen. LAY's letter until after the hour he had named had expired. Gen. GRANT has notified Gen. LEE that they were captured through a misunderstanding, and will not be held as prisoners, but will be returned.

No other military intelligence has been received.

EDWIN M. STANTON,
Secretary of War.

BATTLE OF SUNDAY.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

NEAR COLD HARBOR, Sunday Evening, June 5.

The enemy appear to be exceedingly anxious to break up our lines, particularly on the left, so as to cut off all communication with White House Landing. During the last three days they have made several assaults, but in each instance were repulsed with fearful loss. The last attempt of this kind was made just after dark this evening in front of SEDGWICK'S brigade, late CARROLL'S, of GIBBON'S Division, Second Army Corps. The weather was peculiarly favorable for the movement, as the rain of last night was succeeded by a hot murky day, and, in consequence, the whole lower strata of atmosphere was a dense mist. Under cover of this impenetrable fog the enemy advanced a strong line of battle, and succeeded in reaching a point within pistol range of our works before discovered by the advanced pickets. No sooner did the outpost give the alarm than one sheet of fire belched forth from our works in front and on both flanks of the enemy. In about half an hour he fell back, leaving the ground covered with his dead and wounded.

At a little later moment there was apparently a similar demonstration about to be made in front of BURNSIDE'S Division of the Sixth Corps, but that was speedily checked.

These night attacks have got to be so frequent that they come to create no alarm, for the whole army is always on duty, ready at any moment to meet any emergency. Gens. GRANT and MEADE are constantly on the alert, so that a surprise is practically an impossibility.

But while these attacks at night create no alarm there is something romantically interesting about them. It is a spectacle of gigantic proportion. The continued explosions of thousands of rockets would be no comparison.

The loss on our side in this last assault was small owing to the fact that the men were behind earthworks.

Lieut. McCABE, Fifth Excelsior, of Gen. HANCOCK'S Staff, had his leg shot off while standing near Gen. HANCOCK'S headquarters.

The Second Cavalry Division, Gen. GAMBLE, gained an important position to-day on the left.

OPERATIONS OF SATURDAY AND SUNDAY.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

ARMY OF THE POTOMAC, Sunday, June 5—P. M.

There has been no material change in the position of the Army of the Potomac since the close of the hard battle on Friday. On the left of our line, the Second Corps (HANCOCK'S) still holds the ground, stretched along the road leading to Dispatch Station, and protected on the flank by SHERIDAN, whose dashing cavalry pickets the intervening region on the bank of the Chickahominy.

Our right wing is along the line of the Bethesda church road, and gradually pressing toward the left, thus rendering the army compact and firm.

WILSON'S cavalry division, watchful and adventurous, covers the flank in this direction.

Our lines have moved forward a very little since Friday's costly struggle. Indeed the advance might be counted by inches.

The enemy, snugly covered inside his high breastworks, makes a vigorous defence to all our assaults, and shows no signs of yielding.

On our side, especially in front of the Sixth and Eighteenth Corps, the attack is sharp and urged onward with a full determination to win. By dint of pluck and sheer power of endurance, our lines have been pushed ahead inch by inch, almost solely by the use of the spade, the musket being simply an auxiliary, until at some points in front of MARTINDALE'S Division of the Eighteenth Corps, they are not more than one hundred yards apart. This digging is done solely at night, and as the sappers advance, large numbers of the bodies, both rebel and our own, of those who fell on Friday, are reached and buried.

On both sides sharpshooters—fairly entitled to the name—perched in trees or hidden in pits, take grim delight in sending a bullet into any luckless individual whom location or duty exposes. This fact has been brought home to us quite patently during the past few days by the loss of several excellent officers. Even this morning I was speaking to Capt. P. RAND, Assistant Adjutant-General of the Staff of Brig.-Gen. DUCOUX. Five minutes afterward a rebel rifleman, stationed nearly a mile distant to the right, succeeded in planting a minie ball in the Captain's leg, as he walked across the field in front of Gen. BURNS's Headquarters. These sharpshooting pests have disabled, at a low estimate, one hundred men per day, since Friday, in both the Sixth and Eighteenth Corps, while other organizations of the army have also not been exempt from their annoyance.

But the fighting has not been entirely confined to sharpshooting. There has been several artillery episodes, to vary with hoarser sounds, the lively, but not continuous, bang, bang on the skirmish line.

At 9¾ o'clock last night, the rebels in front of the Eighteenth Corps attempted to thwart Gen. BURNS's settled purpose of relieving his troops in the rifle-pits. To do this they suddenly unmasked a battery about a mile distant from corps headquarters, sending their screeching voices through the air for a few minutes, with a rapidity that was quite demoralizing to everybody who listened, except, of course, the seasoned soldiers, to whom such harsh-voiced messages are familiar. The cannonade was accompanied by several sharp volleys of musketry, scattered shots of which clicked unpleasantly in the trees of the picturesque grove where Gen. SMITH has chosen to pitch his tents, causing leaves to fall in gentle showers. Capt. ELDER, Chief of Artillery of the Eighteenth Corps, speedily rebuked this presumption of the enemy. He massed his batteries on their position and blazed away so fiercely for a while that the very ground shook as he thundered. Silence thus secured, the remainder of the night passed away without disturbance.

There have been one or two animated artillery passages to-day also, in each of which Capt. ELDER grandly put a stop to the rebel demonstrations, by massing his pieces and firing with magnificent rapidity. The enemy lost his morale, and withdrew crestfallen. The few shots sent by the rebels were not, however, altogether harmless. There were three regiments in line near the edge of a piece of woods, about half a mile in the rear of our breastworks.

These must have been observed, and doubtless drew the enemy's fire. Four of the shots went hissing, screeching overhead and cutting off tree-tops as they passed beyond. The fifth struck in the ranks of the Tenth New-York Heavy Artillery, completely disembowelling one man and injuring four others. A chance shot to-day also worked some mischief in the Second Rhode Island Regiment. The term of the regiment has expired, and it was going from the front bound for home. Having got, as was supposed, well out of range, the order was given to halt, and a moment after came the rushing ball, bringing its death message to two poor fellows who, after faithful service, having escaped all the dangers of the fight, were full of joyful anticipations at the speedy prospect of being home again. Their fate was doubly shocking.

About 7 o'clock to-night there was a furious fire suddenly opened on the left. For twenty minutes the rattling of musketry and roaring of artillery was kept up with a steadiness that is seldom equalled. Persons at a distance interpreted it into a determined attack by the rebels, with the view of turning HANCOCK'S position. The indications certainly pointed to something desperate, and the weakhearted made preparations for a skedaddle. Investigation has not made it precisely clear why so much noise was made. Some declare that the enemy attacked in force, attempting to break BURNS's brigade of the Second Corps, while others insist that a scare was got up in the darkness, without any justification whatever. At any rate, our lines were preserved intact, and I must wait the developments of the morning for the facts.

Brig.-Gen. BARNARD was to-day assigned to duty as Chief Engineer of the Army of the Potomac.

THE BATTLE OF FRIDAY.

Further Particulars—The Gallantry of Gibbon's and Barlow's Divisions—List of Casualties.

From Our Special Correspondent.

NEAR COLD HARBOR,
Friday, June 3—3 o'clock P. M.

Since my dispatch of 9 o'clock A. M., I have gathered some additional particulars of the contest this morning. Compelled to leave the field to get off that dispatch at the early hour I did, and not foreseeing that our troops might be compelled to give up a portion of the works they had won against such odds, makes my first account under present circumstances rather exaggerated; that is, the object of the movement on the left was not fully accomplished. True, the cavalry on the left of our line rests upon the Chickahominy, and this morning all felt confident that the left of the infantry line would certainly hold that position, by doing which the enemy, taken in flank, would have had their whole line on this side of the Chickahominy rolled up like a piece of parchment, and the entire demoralization of the enemy must have been the result. As it was, the success was only partial. Our extreme left (BARLOW'S division of the Second Corps) advanced to within three-quarters of a mile of the river—an advance of nearly one mile. Of this gallant movement I wish to speak more in detail. Gen. BARLOW'S division occupied the extreme left of the line—of the army, in fact; Gen. GIBBON'S next, while Gen. BURNS'S division was held in reserve. The movement was inaugurated by the advance of one-half of the first-named division. Gen. MITAC'S brigade, composed of the Fifth New-Hampshire, Sixty-first New-York, Eighty-first Pennsylvania, One Hundred and Fortieth Pennsylvania, One Hundred and Eighty-third Pennsylvania, Twenty-sixth Michigan and Second New-York Heavy Artillery, of BARLOW'S division, occupied the extreme left; while BROOKS'S brigade, of the same division, composed of the Fifty-third, One Hundred and Forty-fifth, One Hundred and Forty-eighth Pennsylvania, Sixty-sixth and Sixty-fourth New-York, Second Delaware and Seventh New-York Artillery, moved up on the right. The movement was commenced at precisely 4¾ o'clock A. M. The One Hundred and Forty-eighth Pennsylvania, Col. BEAVER, deployed as skirmishers. At first the ground over which the command moved was covered with trees and an undergrowth of bushes, passing through which the command emerged into an open space, in full view of the enemy. At this moment a terrific fire was opened upon the devoted patriots—but they quailed not. Continuing to advance, one-half the command charged upon and obtained possession of the enemy's works. A battery of six guns was in our hands, and just as Col. MEARS, of the Second New-York Artillery, was in the act of turning the guns upon the foe, they advanced in overwhelming numbers, and the braves of the Union were compelled to fall back. The enemy did not then and have not since been able to use these guns. Our men (One Hundred and Forty-eighth Pennsylvania, Col. BEAVER,) held a position within thirty-five yards, and every man is shot who attempts to approach the guns. The enemy, composed of HILL'S and BERNARDIN'S troops, are behind a line of earthworks, on the crest of a roll of land, while our boys hold a similar position in a depression of the land, having thereby a little advantage as to position, as the reader will readily perceive, for to rise at our men a rebel must raise his head so far above the earthworks as to look down a hill, while ours look up at an angle of perhaps thirty degrees; the enemy's flag floats defiantly over the parapet, and has been frequently shot away; when this is done the boys banter the enemy to raise their "rag" again. Not a head or the least portion of a man's person can be exposed but what a dozen guns are instantly fired by our men; and various are the expedients resorted to to induce some of the enemy to make a show of hands; some of these which have been successfully used a number of times, are to give the word of command as though our men were to advance, about to be relieved, or reinforced; being within within a few paces, the enemy hearing every word distinctly, in large numbers peer over their works to take advantage of the supposed order. Scores of them to-day have forfeited their lives by serving a bad cause with such alacrity. In the charge upon the works, Corp. TASSANCE BIGGS, Company D, Seventh New-York Heavy Artillery, snatched the State flag of the Twenty-sixth Virginia Infantry, from the hands of the bearer within the enemy's works, and carried it off triumphantly to the rear. The different temperament of men under the excitement of battle is strongly illustrated by the following incident: The Colonel of the Twenty-sixth Virginia was bayoneted on the spot by one of our men, while a Captain at his side was taken prisoner by another—all the work of a moment; 15 commissioned officers and 215 non-commissioned officers and privates were captured by this division.

GIBBON'S division, as I have before said, was at the right of Gen. BARLOW. His command also had a desperate conflict, accounting the enemy's works several times, and gaining some ground and capturing about 150 prisoners. McKEAN'S, OWEN'S, SHIPP'S and TYLER'S brigades were all in the fight. A portion of one brigade got so far within the enemy's works that it could not go either way, and there it remains at this moment. The men will be got out to-night.

Among the casualties in these two divisions were the following:

Lieut. R. Y. DRAPER, Aid-de-Camp to Col. T. A. SMITH, Third Brigade, Third Division.

Col. JOHN R. BROOKE, commanding Third Brigade, First Division, had a shrapnel ball strike a breast button of his coat, wounding one finger, and making a slight contusion on his stomach.

Col. O. H. MEARS, Sixty-sixth New-York, killed. He was instantly killed, having been shot through the heart.

Col. R. BYRNES, commanding brigade, mortally wounded—shot through the spine with a rifle ball.

Capt. J. D. BERRY, Brigade Inspector, Fourth Brigade, of Sixty-third New-York, wounded in breast and arm by same ball.

Lt D S Munn, 6th N Y.
Lt H Pirious, 66th N Y.
Lt West, 20th Mass. (This regiment lost every Field Officer and Captain.)
Lt Ludwig, 53d Pennsylvania—shoulder.
Lt Kenny, of Gen Tyler's Staff.
Capt W L Palmer, Ordnance Officer—thigh.

Capt. PARKER, of Gen. HANCOCK'S Staff, had his horse killed. Of the operations of the Eighteenth and Sixth Corps you will receive accounts from another correspondent. The enemy, endeavoring to create a diversion, made an assault upon the Ninth Corps on our right, but were repulsed with heavy loss. Last night, also, Gen. WILSON'S Third Cavalry Division had a severe fight with GEARDER'S command near Bethesda Church. The enemy was forced to retire.

NATIONAL UNION CONVENTION.

The Assembling at Baltimore Yesterday.

Six Hundred Delegates in Attendance.

Dr. Breckinridge, of Kentucky, Temporary President.

Governor Denison, of Ohio, Permanent President.

ENTIRE HARMONY AND ENTHUSIASM.

Speeches of Rev. Dr. Breckinridge, Senator Morgan, Governor Denison and Parson Brownlow.

BALTIMORE, Tuesday, June 7.

The National Union Convention assembled this morning in the Front-street Theatre.

The building is tastefully decorated and fitted up for the occasion. The galleries are festooned with flags and the interior stage is thrown open. This was done by the City Council of Baltimore.

The President's chair is on an elevated platform at the extreme end of the stage, under a canopy of flags.

There is a numerous staff of pages in attendance, who are decorated with tri-colored badges.

There is also a considerable number of telegraph messengers in attendance, whose duty it is to convey dispatches direct from the reporters' tables to the telegraphic instruments in the lobbies.

The doors of the theatre opened at 11 o'clock, and the building soon commenced filling up with delegates and spectators—the latter being admitted only to the galleries.

The Dress Circle is reserved for the ladies.

There are nearly six hundred delegates present, including many from the remote Territories.

New-Mexico has sent a delegation consisting of Hons. JOSE S. WAVES, FRANCIS PEREA and JOSHUA JOHN, Jr.

1 o'clock, P. M.

The band of the Second United States Regiment, from Fort McHenry, is stationed in the gallery, and at noon they opened with the performance of a grand overture.

The building is now densely packed, from the lower floor to the ceiling.

Hon. EDWIN D. MORGAN, of New-York, Chairman of the National Union Executive Committee, called the Convention to order; and spoke as follows:

MEMBERS OF THE CONVENTION: It is a little more than eight years since it was resolved to form a national party, to be conducted upon the principles and policy which had been established and maintained by those illustrious statesmen, GEORGE WASHINGTON and THOMAS JEFFERSON. A convention was held in Philadelphia, under the shade of the trees that surround the Hall of Independence, and candidates (FREMONT and DAYTON) were there nominated who had espoused our cause and were to maintain it. But the State of Pennsylvania gave its electoral vote in JAMES BUCHANAN, and the election of 1856 was lost. Nothing daunted by defeat, it was determined to fight on "on this line," not only "all Summer," but four Summers and four Winters, and in 1860 the party banner was again unfurled, with the names of ABRAHAM LINCOLN and HANNIBAL HAMLIN inscribed thereon. This time it was successful; but with success came the rebellion, and with the rebellion, of course, war, and war, terrible and cruel war, has continued up to the present time, when it is necessary, under our Constitution, to prepare for another Presidential election. It is for this highly respectable purpose that you are to-day assembled. It is not my duty nor my purpose to indicate any general plan of action by this convention; but I trust I may be permitted to say that, in view of the dread realities of the past and what is passing at this moment, the fact that the bones of our soldiers are bleaching in every State of the Union, and with the further knowledge of the further fact that this has all been caused by Slavery, the party of which you, gentlemen, are the delegated and only representatives, will fail short of accomplishing its great mission, unless adopting no other resolve it shall declare by some amendment of the Constitution as will positively prohibit African Slavery in the United States. [Prolonged applause, followed by three cheers.] In behalf of the National Committee, I now propose for temporary President of this convention, ROBERT J. BRECKINRIDGE of Kentucky, [applause,] and appoint Gov. RAMSAY of Wisconsin, and Gov. KING of New-York, as a committee to conduct the President pro tem to the chair.

Three cheers were proposed for the "Old War Horse of Kentucky," and they were given.

As soon as silence was restored, Mr. BRECKINRIDGE returned his thanks for the honor conferred upon him in a brief and eloquent speech as follows:

GENTLEMEN OF THE CONVENTION: You cannot be more sensible than I am that the part which I have to perform here, to-day, is merely a matter of form; and neither upon the principles of my whole life, I was inclined, when the suggestion was made to me from various quarters, that it was in the minds of many members of the convention to confer this distinction upon me, to earnestly decline to accept it. Because I have never sought honors, I have never sought distinction. I have been a working man, and nothing else. But certain considerations led me to change my mind. [Applause.] There is a class of men in the country far too small for the good of the country. These are the men who by their example, by their pen, by their voice, try to do good, and all the more in perilous times, without regard to the reward that may come. It is given to many such men to understand, by the distinction conferred upon one, one of the humblest of their class, that there are men whom the country will cherish and who will not be forgotten. These are another motive relative to yourselves and to the country large. It is good for your—it is good for every nation and every people, every State and every party, to cherish all generous impulses, to follow all noble instincts, (and where are men more noble, more generous?) to purge yourselves of all self seekers and betrayers, and to center offices, if it be only in mere form, upon those worthy to be trusted, and ask nothing more. [Applause.] Now, according to my convictions of propriety, having said this, I should say nothing more. (Cries of go on.) But it has been intimated to me from many quarters, and in a way which I cannot disregard, that I should disappoint the wishes of my friends, and perhaps the just expectations of the convention, if I did not so briefly, and yet as precisely as I could, say somewhat upon the great matters which have brought us here. Therefore, in a very few words, and plainly as I can, I will endeavor to draw your attention to one and another of these great matters in which we are all engaged. In the first place, nothing can be more plain than the fact that you are here as representatives of a great nation—voluntary representatives, chosen without forms of law, but as really representing the feelings and principles, and, if you choose, the prejudices of the American people, as if it were written in their laws and already passed by their votes. For the man that you will nominate here for the Presidency of the United States and ruler of a great people, in a great crisis, is just as certain, I suppose, to be become that ruler as anything under Heaven is certain before it is done, (prolonged cheers,) and moreover, you will allow me to say, though, perhaps, it is hardly strictly proper that I should, but as far as I know your opinions, I suppose it is just as certain now as before you utter it—whose name you will utter, and which will be responded to from one end to the other of this nation, as it will after it has been uttered and recorded by your Secretary. Does any man doubt that this convention intends to say that ABRAHAM LINCOLN shall be the nominee? (Great applause.) What I wish, however, to call your attention to, is the grandeur of the mission upon which you are met, and, therefore, the dignity and solemnity, earnestness and conscientiousness with which, representing one of the greatest and certainly one of the first peoples of the world, you ought to discharge these duties. [Applause.] Now, beside the nomination of President and Vice-President, in regard to which sacred ethics I will say nothing, because I know there is more or less difference of opinion among you, but beside those two nominations, you have other more solemn duties to perform. You have to organize this party throughout the United States. You have to put it in whatever form your wisdom will suggest, that will unite all your wisdom, energy and determination to gain the victory, which, I have already said, was in our power. More than that, you have to lay down with clearness and precision the principles on which you intend to carry on this great political contest, and prosecute the war which is undermining them, and the glory of the country which lies before us if we succeed; plainly not in a double sense, briefly not in a treatise, with the dignity and precision of a great people, to utter, by its representatives the political principles by which they intend to live, and for the sake of which they are willing to die, so that all men everywhere may understand precisely what we mean, and lay that furrow so deeply and clearly, that while every man who is worthy to consociate with freemen may see it and pass over it, every man who is unworthy, may be either unable to pass it, or may be driven far from it. We want none but those who are like us to be with us. [Applause.] Now, among these principles, if you will allow me to say it, the first and most obvious is that we do not intend this nation to be destroyed. [Applause.] We are a nation, no doubt in a peculiar one, a nation formed of States, and no nation except as these States form it; and these States are no States except as they are States in that nation. They had no more right to repudiate the nation than the nation has to repudi

NEWS FROM WASHINGTON.

Dispatches to the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Monday, June 6.

THE CHINCHA ISLANDS.

The State Department having promulgated, on the 6th of last month, a decree of the Peruvian Government denying the authority exercised over the Chincha Islands by the Spanish authorities, and stating that cargoes of guano shipped under Spanish authority will be attached, according to law in foreign ports, and the proceeds thereof held subject to the orders of the Peruvian Government, now advices from Captain Gandy commander, that 6 prisoners have been received from the Minister of the Catholic Majesty, the Queen, accredited to the Government of the United States, against the Chincha Islands, judicial or otherwise, of any such character on the part of the Government of Peru.

THE TEN-FORTY LOAN.

The subscription to the United States 10-40 loan reported to the Treasury for the week ending June 4, amounted to $6,201,100, and the total subscriptions to that date amounted to $67,017,800. An unusually large proportion is from the country.

CAPTURES OF REBEL VESSELS.

The Navy Department has received information of the following captures:

The steamer Bermuda, Volunteer Lieut.-Commander Sims, captured the rebel sloop Fernando, she had run out of Indian River, Fla., and was trying to get to Nassau. Her cargo is small.

The United States steamer Chicora, off Sesesse on the 26 of May, captured the Prussian schooner Friedrich Second. She had run the blockade of Brazos River to Matagorda with the English schooner Agnes, which was then captured with a cargo of 114 bales of cotton.

A RENEGADE NAVY OFFICER GUNWITER.

A dispatch has also been received from Acting Volunteer Lieut.-Commander Hunt, commanding the gunboat Kenwood, dated West Pass, St. George's Sound, detailing the particulars of an expedition by which he succeeded in completely thwarting the designs of an expedition led by a rebel navy officer who had under every preparation for the capture of the United States gun boat Alida. He says: "On May 19 the light-draft launches of the Kenwood and United States schooner Chambers were sent to look a detachment of troops under the command of Lieut. Hunter, of the One Hundred and Tenth New-York Volunteers, who proceeded to Apalachicola by land, keeping in communication with the launches. A force of the enemy was discovered near the town, which immediately retreated, and but for an unfortunate mistake of Lieut. Hunter, who supposed them to be our men, would have been captured. The contemplated object of the rebel expedition, Capt. W. Cary, C. S. N., accepted capture by the crew of his vessel. Their intention was to carry the Alida into Mobile and here her. Six out of eleven of her boats, few prisoners, and a quantity of small arms and equipment were captured.

REPRESENTATIVE DAVIS OF FOREIGN AFFAIRS.

Representative Davis, of Maryland, made an unsuccessful effort to-day to have the rules suspended in order to enable him to report from the Committee on Foreign Affairs, a resolution of the dignity and function of the House with respect to their late expressions against French interference in Mexico, and all such monarchical institutions. They take issue with the President in the assertion of the principle through the Secretary of State that such expressions properly and purely belong to the Executive Department and not to the National Legislature. The Committee claim that Congress has a right to pass upon foreign affairs, either in connection with, or independently of, the Executive.

The report shows that, with but few exceptions, it has been the practice for Congress to initiate all proceedings concerning the recognition of new Governments, and other acts in South America and Texas as illustrations; and concludes with a resolution, declaring that it is the right and duty of Congress to express themselves as to our foreign policy; and further, that their action ought not to be made the subject of diplomatic correspondence. The committee nearly unanimously agreed to the report, Mr. Pomeroy, of New-York, only dissenting.

A TELEGRAPH TO CONNECT THE EASTERN AND WESTERN HEMISPHERES.

It is understood that the Secretary of State will, during the present week send to the Senate a communication upon the subject of an inter continental telegraph connecting the Eastern and Western Hemispheres, by way of Behrings Straits. Those who have made the communication say the writer regards it as certain that the United States cannot neglect to employ telegraphic communication with foreign countries and yet expect to maintain a healthful communication with them; but the United States cannot hope to maintain respect, confidence and good will abroad, and to preserve peace with foreign States, without using the magnetic telegraph when it is possible, and that the United States cannot even hope to preserve peace and order at home, much less to maintain a military and naval police on their inland frontiers, and around their ocean coast, without availing themselves of all possible telegraphic communications.

NOMINATIONS AT THE BALTIMORE CONVENTION.

It is understood that the Republican delegation of the House from New-Jersey met to-day and unanimously resolved in favor the nomination of Hon. JAMES M. SCOVILLE, of that State, before the Baltimore Convention, for the Vice-Presidency.

MIDSHIPMEN APPOINTED.

The following have been appointed midshipmen, at the Naval Academy, by the President: Raymond P. Rogers, son of Commander C. P. P. Rogers, United States Navy; Richard Wainwright, son of the late Commander Richard Wainwright, United States Navy; Wm. M. Berryman, son of Lieut. G. H. Berryman, United States Navy, the inventor of deep sea-sound apparatus; Frederick B. Oakley, son of Maj. Thomas F. Oakley, United States Volunteers; Louis Ashman, son of the late Purser Ashman, U. S. N.; Randall Williams, son of Acting Master C. F. Williams, U. S. Navy; C. H. Venable, son of Gunner T. P. Venable, U. S. N.; Gustavus G. Guild, son of Acting Assistant Paymaster C. M. Guild, U. S. N.

The enlisted boys appointed by the President as midshipmen at the Naval Academy are: WILLIAM E. BEASON, on board the United States steamer Ossipee; EDGWORTH E. HOYLE, on board the Monongahela; JOHN FARNSWORTH TYSON, on board the Ironclad Bentonville.

THE TEN-FORTY LOAN.

The subscriptions to the Ten-forty Loan to-day amounted to $556,000.

FROM CALIFORNIA.

Defeat of the Apache Indians.

SAN FRANCISCO, Monday, June 6.

Mining Stocks are lower; Gould and Curry sold for $2,700 and $2,750 per foot on Saturday. To-day they were as low as $2,475, and other stocks in proportion. This heavy depreciation is mainly attributable to an old conspiracy to bear the market for speculative purposes. The leading mines never were in a better condition.

The Produce market is flat. Late importations of pig iron are excessive.

The Union State Convention, to nominate Presidential electors, will be called for Aug. 20.

The California Volunteers in Arizona, Arizona, fought two hundred Apaches on the 2d of May, and routed them. Thirty Indians were killed. One soldier was killed and several wounded. Another expedition has been planned.

Several Russian and British merchant vessels have arrived at this port within a day or two.

The Pennsylvania Reserves.

THE NUMBER THEY HAVE LOST—FAREWELL ORDERS.

The Pennsylvania Reserves have returned to their homes, having been discharged May 21.

Of the fifteen thousand men who marched to the front, about fourteen hundred and fifty return. Of original general and line officers few remain. In some regiments, the Fifth, for instance, there is not an officer left who went out with the command. In the Fifth every officer has risen to position from the rank of private. All the Colonels and Lieutenant-Colonels, with one or two exceptions, have either been killed or wounded.

GEN. WARREN'S FAREWELL TO THE RESERVES.

HEADQUARTERS FIFTH ARMY CORPS, May 21, 1864.

SOLDIERS: With this is the order for the return of the Pennsylvania Reserves, whose term of service expires to-day. The General commanding begs leave to express to them his great satisfaction at their heroic conduct in this arduous campaign. As their commander he thanks them for their willing and effective efforts, and congratulates them that their successful engagement of Pennsylvania closing their term of service, and being the last of many battles bravely fought, is one they can ever remember with satisfaction and pride. By command of

MAJ.-GEN. WARREN.

GEN. CRAWFORD'S FAREWELL TO THE RESERVES.

HEADQUARTERS THIRD DIVISION, PENNSYLVANIA RESERVE VOLUNTEER CORPS, FIFTH ARMY CORPS, June 1, 1864.

SOLDIERS OF THE PENNSYLVANIA RESERVES: To-day the connection which has so long existed between us is to be severed forever. I have no power to express to you the feeling of gratitude and affection that I owe to you, nor the deep regret with which I now part from you.

As a division you have ever been faithful and we, your soldiers, and you have nobly sustained me in the many trying scenes through which we have passed with an unwavering fidelity.

The record of your service terminates gloriously, and the Wilderness, Spottsylvania Court-house and Bethesda Church have been added to the long list of battles and triumphs that have marked your career.

Go home to the great State that sent you forth three years ago to battle for her honor and to strike for her in the great cause of the country.

Take back your soiled and war-worn banners, your thinned and shattered ranks, and let them tell how you performed your trust.

Take back those banners, sacred from the glorious associations that surround them, shared with the memory of our fallen comrades who gave their lives to defend them, and give them again into the keeping of the State forever.

The duties of the hour prevent me from accompanying you, but my heart will follow you long after your return, and it shall ever be my pride that I was once your commander, and that side by side we fought and suffered through campaigns which will stand unexampled in history. Farewell.

(Signed) W. CRAWFORD,
Brigadier-General Commanding Division.

The Loss of the Pocahontas.

REPORT OF M. M. VAN BENSCHOTEN, CHIEF CLERK OF THE UNITED STATES STEAMSHIP POCAHONTAS, AS TO THE DISASTER OFF CAPE MAY, ON THE NIGHT OF THE 1ST INSTANT, CAUSED BY THE COLLISION OF SAID SHIP WITH THE STEAM TRANSPORT CITY OF BATH.

The story of disaster, having been applied to by several persons having friends on said steamship for information in regard to said disaster, and earnestly requested by them to make a public report thereof, embraces the first opportunity his enfeebled health and strength will permit to make such statement as he is able from recollection, all his books, papers and effects having been lost by said disaster.

The Pocahontas left New-Orleans on the 24th of May last, for New-York, having on board thirty-two officers and crew, and nine cabin and sixty steerage passengers, in all one hundred and one persons. The other 422 passengers were composed mostly of sick and wounded soldiers, either on furlough or discharged from the service, from the Department of the Gulf. The ship was in charge of Capt. SAMUEL BAXTER, acting in the place of Capt. JOHN BAXTER, who was on board, but unable to discharge his duties as Captain, by reason of sickness, and the acting Captain was put in charge of the vessel at New-Orleans by the Chief Quartermaster there, at the request of Captain JOHN BAXTER.

Nothing worthy of note occurred on our passage from New-Orleans until the night of the disaster, on which, at about 11 o'clock, a light was discovered ahead; and as we approached it, we found it to be that of a steamer steering southward. All no apprehensions were expressed in regard to the same. I retiring retired to my stateroom. Our signal lights were all in their proper places, and our captain caused the proper signals to be timely sounded. Then he saw the other vessel was bearing toward us, and our vessel to be so steered as to get out of the course on which the other vessel appeared to be sailing; but she, not seeming to see us or hear our signals, which were again sounded, bore directly down upon us until the collision took place. I was aroused by the crash, noise and confusion on deck, to which I immediately repaired, only partially dressed, and found that the steamer (which proved to be the City of Bath) had struck the Pocahontas just abaft the fore rigging, crushing in her side and making a breach in her which extended about two feet below the surface of the water. When I arrived on deck, the two vessels were crashing together, and remained in that situation for several minutes. When they were separated it was discovered that the water was rushing rapidly through the breach made in the Pocahontas, and that she was fast sinking. In the meantime the passengers had rushed on deck in great trepidation and confusion; and as soon as it was discovered by them that the Pocahontas was sinking they commenced to jump on board the City of Bath, but only a few of them succeeded in so doing, as she was soon out of their reach, having backed off and stood about a half a mile from us. Our Captain ordered all our life-boats (three in number) to be lowered, which order was promptly obeyed, and two of the boats were immediately lowered. The other boat was on the top of the forward house, which our Captain took command of; and as our vessel sank, he, with the second officer and several passengers, floated off from the wreck, and rendered most praiseworthy and efficient service in rescuing from drowning all those that his boat could contain who were struggling in the water. The other two boats were filled as soon as they reached the water by those who were able to reach them, and could find a place, in one of which was Capt. JOHN BAXTER, who was barely able to leave his berth and reach the boat, from physical debility caused by his recent severe illness. While he was in the small boat he called my name, and I went down into the boat where he was, but at once saw that it was overloaded and would sink if not immediately lightened. I then told the Captain that I would leave the boat and take my chances for being saved some other way, advising him to remain where he was and save himself. I commenced clambering back on the deck of our sinking ship, inducing several others to follow me, that the boat might be saved. I succeeded by the aid of a chain to again reaching the deck, but several of those who followed became excited, and in clibbing over the gangway they loosened their grasp and were cast through between decks into certain death. Although I did not see Capt. JOHN BAXTER after I left the small boat, I was afterwards informed that he also returned to the sinking ship, and was last seen going toward his office. He probably went down with the vessel, as he was lost. Upon reaching the deck of the sinking vessel I immediately went aft to the engine-house and found our chief engineer still at his post attending to the engine, although the escaping steam and smoke were almost insupportable. He remained there nobly discharging his duty until the rushing waters drove him from his room, when he leaped overboard, and was picked up by one of the small boats and saved. After going to the engine-room I saw that the vessel could remain above water but a few moments, as she was going down very fast, the bow being already submerged. I ran down on the main and there found a cork life-preserver, which I strapped about me and instantly returned to the aft part of the vessel, finding several persons yet standing there shrieking frantically for aid; among others, the first assistant engineer, who aided by my side until the water reached us, and whose last words were, "Let us bolt die together." When the vessel went down we both leaped from her and became separated in the water, I was drawn instantly back by the sucking of the water over the sinking vessel, and became entangled in some of her upper rigging, and was carried down some distance, and I could extricate myself, but finally came to the surface, and after struggling in the water until nearly exhausted, I was picked up by one of our boats, and taken on board the City of Bath, where I found her officers and crew hard at work using every exertion to save their leaking vessel by throwing their cargo overboard, and working all their pumps. Here allow me to express my most sincere and heartfelt gratitude to the officers and crew of the City of Bath, in the name of my saved, for the kind manner in which we were received and cared for on board of their vessel. We were supplied with everything their good command for our comfort during our stay on board, and I feel assured that all our remaining passengers and crew will join with me in rendering them many thanks. We had on board the Pocahontas the United States mail from Key West, and no other public papers to my knowledge. All the crew and effects on board were lost—the vessel sinking in about thirty minutes after being struck by the City of Bath.

The following is a complete list of those saved, and a partial list of those lost—only a few of those who were lost being known to me; those who were saved being taken on board the City of Bath and their names there obtained by me. The City of Bath, although injured and leaking badly, reached New-York on the 24 inst.

Annual Meeting of the Grand Lodge of F. and A. M. of the State of New-York.

FIRST DAY.

The eighteenth annual communication of the Grand Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons of the State of New-York, commenced its session, yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock, in the City Assembly Rooms. The attendance was unusually large, the vast hall being densely crowded. The jewels, implements and emblems of the Grand Lodge were covered with crape, in honor to the memory of the Deputy Grand Master, who died in November last. M. W. G. M. CLINTON F. PAINE presided in the East, the remaining grand officers occupying their respective positions. The lodge was called to order at 3 o'clock precisely, and after prayer by R. W. Bro. G. W. SCHOONMAKER, Grand Chaplain, the Grand Lodge was opened in ample form. The Grand Master then delivered a very able address, in which he congratulated the craft on the vast masonic improvement made during the past year. He paid a fervent tribute to the memories of the officers of the Grand Lodge who had died since their last gathering, and contrasted a number of decisions made by him on questions of masonic jurisprudence. In mention the report was referred to a committee of three, consisting of R. W. JOSEPH H. CHAPMAN, STEPHEN H. JOHNSON and W. H. IMAKE for appropriate committees.

The Grand Secretary, Dr. J. M. AUSTIN, then submitted his annual report, by which it appeared that the total receipts during the year had been $24,877 27, warrants granted to new lodges 13, dispensations 14, number of lodges 462; total number of masons, 43,220, being an increase of nearly 10,000 during 1864.

This report was referred to Committee on Grand Master's Address.

The report of the Grand Treasurer was then read, showing the following financial statement:

Balance on hand June, 1863	$3,661 66
Receipts during 1864	24,277 27
Total	$27,939 13
Expenditures during 1864, including $5,000 invested in United States Stock, was $20,104 26, leaving a balance in the hands of the Treasurer of	$7,434 87
The total assets of the Grand Lodge are as follows:
Invested in City and U. S. Stocks	$16,000 00
In hands of Grand Treasurer	1,434 87
Total	$17,434 87

The report was referred to the same committee.

The Trustees of the Masonic Hall and Asylum Fund then made their report, by which it appeared that the fund now in their hands amounted to $46,402 14.

The Grand Lodge was then called from labor to refreshment, to resume labor at 9 o'clock this morning.

Naval Movements.

SECRETARY WELLES' ANNUAL INSPECTION OF NAVY-YARDS.

It is semi-officially announced that Secretary WELLES will, next week, leave the National Capital on his annual tour of the different navy-yards. He will first visit New-York, then Philadelphia, Boston, Portsmouth, N. H., and perhaps New-London, which is pretty generally believed to be the site for the new navy-yard. It is hinted that Admiral PAULDING is about to suggest to him a considerable enlargement of the anchorage at the New-York Yard.

IMPORTANT, IF TRUE.

It is currently rumored here that Commodore STRINGHAM is to be put in a prominent position in active service, before many days. Having always acquitted himself of his trust with honor, it is to be hoped that the report is not altogether unfounded.

THE NEW-HAMPSHIRE.

The ship New Hampshire, formerly the old line-of-battle ship Vermont, now lying at the Portsmouth Yard, is nearly ready for sea, and will probably leave this week. She has about 600 men aboard, of whom 200 are negroes, 250 paroled rebel prisoners and 450 enlisted sailors. She has been converted into a supply ship, but will carry 50 guns.

THE ADIRONDACK.

The iron-clad Agamemnicus, 4, building at Portsmouth, N. H., was taken out of dock last Saturday afternoon.

The Tax Commissioners Certiorari Argued at General Term.

SUPREME COURT—GENERAL TERM.

Before Justices Leonard, Sutherland and Clerke.

The People on the Relation of J. W. Allen et al. vs. The Commissioners of Taxes and Assessment.—The questions in this case, discussed by counsel on the argument at Chambers, were yesterday argued over again upon the certiorari to review the decision of Mr. Justice Barnard below, holding that the term of the old Commissioners terminated upon the legal appointment of the new board, and that the new board were legally appointed. Decision was reserved.

Power of the Local School Boards to Appoint and Remove Teachers—Contest with the Board of Education.

SUPREME COURT—GENERAL TERM.

Before Justices Leonard, Sutherland and Clerke.

The People ex rel. Mary C. McHugh vs. The Board of Education.—The relator was a teacher in one of the Sixth Ward schools, and was removed on account of alleged misconduct. On appeal, the Board of Education reversed the decision of the Local Board, and directed that Miss McHugh should be reinstated. The Local Board refuses to comply with this decision, on the ground that they had control over the appointments and removals in their ward. A mandamus was applied for, to compel them to reinstate Miss McHugh. The Justices at Special Term declined to issue an order to that effect, and the General Term, on appeal, affirmed that decision.

TUESDAY, June 7—P. M.

The Secretary of the Treasury arrived in town at an early hour this morning, on the business of his department, and will probably remain for a day or two. As his visit was preceded by his official propositions to pay an advanced rate of interest for Money on deposit, and to award, on the 15th instant, $75,000,000 of 1881 Funded Stock to the best offers for the Government, no other change of policy is expected from his presence.

The impression on the Stock Exchange is that the visit of the Secretary of the Treasury is calculated to damage the Railway speculation. The market has fallen off on this theory. So far as the Government offers to take Money on liberal rates of interest, at call, or on the $75,000,000 of 1881 Stock are concerned, the incidental effect may be in this direction. But we doubt whether the object of the Secretary's visit has relation to the Stock market. Its present condition is very different from the state of affairs in April, when he was last here, and the loans at Bank were greatly inflated in support of the then existing, and in several points of view, crazy speculation. It will be found, we believe, that the immediate concern of the Secretary is to raise Money, and at the same time to contract his Legal-Tender Currency by the inducements of a high rate of interest on deposits, and by a long Funded loan; and to check, if not defeat, the hostile speculation now and for some weeks past going on in the very midst of favorable Military progress, in the Gold Market. To this last end, we believe, he will be respectfully urged to accept certain offers of Money from Europe, which have been under his consideration for several weeks. These offers, we understand to be coupled with no conditions that reflect upon the dignity of the Public Credit, or that imply any advantage to Foreigners in the purchase of or by way of advances upon the Stock of 1881 over our own Bankers or the People of the United States at large. We hear that in one instance $25,000,000 is offered, jointly, by certain firms in England, Holland and Germany, on no other stipulation different from the ordinary Federal tenor of the Stock, than that the Gold should be paid on the half-yearly coupons in the commercial capital of Holland—a State always friendly and ever likely to be in accord with the United States—in place of New-York. The difference, in any event, would be the trifling one of freight and insurance. It would often be in favor of the Treasury by a relatively lower rate of Exchange than the price or worth of Gold at home. Any such arrangement of this nature—the details being unimportant compared with the great purpose in view—would assuredly place the Gold Market in the control of the Treasury to the extent of the negotiation. It would, above all, place the entire sum of Gold now held in the Treasury for future use in paying the Public Interest or for the Sinking Fund, at the free disposal of the Secretary to do with it whatever the damaging speculation in Gold, or the actual demand for Gold for export, and the credit of our Greenback Currency might seem to render useful to the Public Credit or profitable to the Government.

There is no question that the $75,000,000 of 1881 Stock will be taken at a handsome premium on Wednesday week. The negotiation will be facilitated by the Secretary by taking Money at call, in advance, at 6 ⅌ cent., and waiving all notice on the Certificates of Deposit issued from the Treasury Office, when tendered in payment of the Loan. This, we understand, he has already agreed to. The question, so far as the immediate effect upon Gold and Exchange is concerned, is, whether in addition to the $75,000,000 or a portion of it, he will accept the sum of

J. W. BRADLEY'S PATENTED DUPLEX ELLIPTIC STEEL SPRING SKIRTS.

This invention consists of Duplex (or two) Elliptic Steel Springs, ingeniously braided tightly and firmly together, edge to edge, making the toughest, most elastic, flexible and durable spring ever used, enabling the wearer, in consequence of its great elasticity and flexibility, to place and fold the skirt when in use to closely and with the same convenience as a silk or muslin dress, it entirely obviates and silences the only objections to hoop skirts, viz.: the annoyance to the wearer as well as the public, especially in crowded assemblies, carriages, railroad cars, church pews, or in any crowded place from the difficulty of contracting them to compass in a small space. This entirely removes the difficulty, while giving the skirt the usual full and symmetrical form, and is the lightest and most stylish and graceful appearance for the street, opera, promenade or house dress. A lady having enjoyed the pleasure, comfort and great convenience of wearing the Duplex Elliptic Spring Skirt for one hour, day, will never afterward willingly dispense with the use of them. They are the best quality in every part, and by far the lightest, most durable, comfortable and economical skirt made. Merchants will be supplied at factory, and ladies in the best first-class retail stores in this City and throughout the different States.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

THE REBELLION.

The latest intelligence from the Army of the Potomac is up to Tuesday morning, at 9 o'clock. There had been considerable fighting on Saturday and Sunday, especially at night. The rebels had made three assaults on our lines—one on Saturday, one on Sunday, and one on Monday—all at night, but in each case met with a bloody repulse. On Sunday evening they took advantage of a prevailing mist, and assaulted our left, under HANCOCK. They were met at close range by our troops, and literally slaughtered. On Monday a hundred picked men made a rush upon a working party in HANCOCK'S stage lines, of whom nine were captured, and nearly all the rest were killed or wounded. At midnight of Monday the rebels made an assault on BURNSIDE, and were severely repulsed. Letters had passed between Gen. GRANT and Gen. LEE with reference to the dead and wounded lying between the lines of the two armies. They were collected this dead buried, and the wounded taken care of by the respective armies. Gen. GRANT is evidently trying a flank to LEE'S lines in his present position.

There is nothing new either from Gen. BUTLER or Gen. SHERMAN.

CONGRESS.

In the Senate yesterday, Mr. SUMNER presented numerous petitions from different States, asking for the abolishment of Slavery by Congress. They were referred to the Committee on Slavery and Freedmen. Mr. GRIMES reported back the bill authorizing the Levy Court of the County of Washington, D. C., to levy a direct tax upon the people of the county for their portion of the Government tax under the Act of Congress of July, 1861, without amendment. The Committee on Foreign Relations reported favorably on the bill respecting Consular jurisdiction over crews of vessels of foreign nations in waters and ports of the United States. The bills granting lands to Montana and Dacotah were postponed until next December. The bill relative to increase of duties on imports was postponed. The bill to pay for the publication of the debates of Congress was made the special order for Tuesday. The bill to establish a Bureau of Freedman's Affairs was called up, but without considering it, the Senate went into Executive session and afterward adjourned.

In the House of Representatives an amendment to the rules, so as to admit ex-members of Congress to the floor when the House is in session, was referred to the Committee on the Rules. The bill authorizing a loan of four millions of dollars was recommitted to the Committee on Ways and Means. The Senate bill prohibiting speculation in coin and bullion, was brought up, and after considerable discussion the subject was postponed till Saturday. The Diplomatic Appropriation Bill was taken up, and a new Committee of Conference asked for.

GENERAL NEWS.

The National Union Convention met at Baltimore yesterday, and effected a speedy organization by appointing Dr. R. J. BRECKINRIDGE, of Kentucky, temporary President, who was succeeded by Ex-Gov. DENNISON, of Ohio, as permanent President. The permanent organization was perfected last evening, but the Committees on Credentials and Resolutions not being ready to report, the convention adjourned until 8 o'clock this morning. During the sittings yesterday, highly patriotic speeches were made by Dr. BRECKINRIDGE, Senator MORGAN, Gov. DENNISON and Parson BROWNLOW.

Col. DUTTON, of the Twenty-first Connecticut Volunteers, has died of wounds he received in the recent fight near Bermuda Hundred. Col. DUTTON was a native of Wallingford, Conn., where his family reside. His father was a Major in the regular army, but died several years ago. Col. DUTTON, while a member of Yale College, was appointed to West Point, where he took a high stand, and graduated in the Engineer Corps in 1860. On the organization of the Twenty-first Regiment, he was appointed its Colonel, and has gallantly commanded it ever since.

GROMES, the Count Joannes, has not as yet filed the security for costs as a non-resident in his action against JOHN CLANCY, as required by an order of Judge CARDOZA at Chambers of the Common Pleas. He has, however, taken an appeal from that order, having served defendant's counsel with proper notice thereof. The notice of appeal is in the hand-writing of the Count, and the action is entitled "GROMES, the Count Joannes, commonly called the Count Joannes, author, lecturer, actor, &c., against JOHN CLANCY, editor, proprietor, publisher, &c."

The eightieth annual communication of the Grand Lodge of Freemasons of the State of New-York, commenced its session yesterday afternoon, M. W. CLINTON F. PAINE presiding. The annual reports show an increase of members of about 10,000 during the year 1864, and a balance in the treasury amounting to $1,434 97. The session will continue for the balance of the week, holding three meetings each day.

The income section of the TAX Bill, as it passed the Senate, is as follows: 5 per cent. on incomes from $600 to $5,000; 7½ per cent. on incomes from $5,000 to $10,000; and 10 per cent. on those above $10,000, with 3 per cent. additional on the income of all citizens living abroad. Mr. SUMNER's proposition, increasing the duty on manufactures from 5 per cent. to 7½ per cent., was lost by a vote of 13 to 16.

Several Italian officers who arrived in this City yesterday on board the transport Volturno paid a formal visit to Mayor GUNTHER. They were introduced by the Italian Consul-General. Their names and titles are as follows: Count FIONI, commanding the vessel; Marquis LAURELO, Baron GAINA, M. J. MANGA, CHEV. DE SECONI. The officers were dressed in full uniform.

The Tax Commissioner certiorari was yesterday argued before the General Term of the Supreme Court, and decision was reserved. The opinion of Justice BARNARD, delivered at Chambers, in the case, deciding that the term of office of the old Commissioners had terminated and that the new board were properly appointed, will be found in the law column.

The annual session of the American Medical Association commenced yesterday, at Irving Hall. An election of officers for the ensuing year was held, and several interesting papers were read. The session will continue to-day and to-morrow.

In the Court of General Sessions, yesterday, WILLIAM PATERSON pleaded guilty to an indictment for grand larceny. There being no other cases ready, the Court adjourned until this morning at 11 o'clock.

FORREST is forwarding large quantities of forage to the vicinity of Jackson, Tenn., preparatory, it is believed, to another advance into Kentucky.

The Seventh Regiment, Col. LEFFERTS, proceeded yesterday morning to East New-York, for field exercise. The men were dressed in fatigue uniform and carried one day's rations.

The State Eclectic Medical Society will hold its annual meeting, to-day, at Cooper Institute, Room No. 24. Several interesting papers will be read before the society.

The Live Stock Market is supplied with 29,172 animals of all kinds, including 4,629 beeves, 198 cows, 1,521 veals, 6,618 sheep, and 14,221 swine. There is an increase in the receipts of most kinds of stock, and a good demand for sheep, veals and hogs. The aggregate receipts of bullocks for the week, at the different markets, is larger by several hundred than last week, and prices for the best quality of cattle have ruled at about our previous quotations, 20c. for extra bullocks estimated net weight. Some of the very fat cattle offered will doubtless reach near 21c. The market has been very sluggish, and there has been an apparent decline of price in the lower grades of steers. A few remnants of droves were left over on Monday. There was but little activity on Tuesday, but few buyers being present at the yards. Near the close of the market some fresh droves of fine bullocks arrived, brought from Philadelphia, numbering over 100. If cattle arrive in as large numbers next week as this, we may expect considerable depression in the market. We quote the averages of all sales at 17½c.@17¾c. net weight; 17c.@19c. general selling prices. Sheep are active, selling at 7c.@9c., live weight, for shorn, and 9c.@12c. for wool. Hogs are selling as fast as they arrive at 8c.@8½c., prime corn-fed; medium, 8¼c.@9c., alive; still-fed, 8½c.@9c.

The Stock Market was depressed yesterday morning on the visit of Mr. CHASE to the City, but recovered in the afternoon. The Secretary, during the day, met a proposition from the Associated Banks in a liberal and accommodating spirit to give him a large deposit of Currency at call at 6 ⅌ cent. Gold fell to 93 ⅌ cent. A proposition from the Continent of Europe to lend the Treasury $35,000,000 was received in the afternoon.

Flour and Wheat were in good request, yesterday, and desirable lots were quoted a shade firmer. Corn was heavy and drooping. Oats were in less demand, as were also Oils, Whisky, Tallow, Metals, Hemp, Seeds, and the principal kinds of Provisions, at irregular prices. Cotton was brisker and firmer. Light sales of Groceries, Fish, Fruit, Hides, and Fire Crackers were reported. An improved inquiry prevailed for Beeswax, Candles, Wool, and Tobacco. Freights were dull.

The Radicals and the Negroes—Wendell Phillips' Plan.

One of the strongest arguments against Slavery, and that of which the Anti-Slavery party in this country made most use, was the degradation into which it plunged the colored race at the South. Under it the negro was as like a beast of the field as it was in the power of law and usage to make him. There was in every Southern State a code of regulations ingeniously framed for the express and avowed purpose of extinguishing in him, as far as possible, all the hopes, wants, aspirations and anxieties of a human being. Education of every kind was carefully withheld from him; all sense of self-respect was beaten out of him by the cowhide, and in order to remove all trace of connection between the slave and the rest of the human family, he was not allowed to contract a binding marriage. Of the efficiency of these measures we are unhappily not permitted to doubt. It is proved by the testimony of everybody who has examined the condition of the Southern slaves, and this testimony derives the strongest kind of corroboration from the attributes of the negroes themselves. Their marvellous quiescence for so many generations under the most horrible wrongs that man could inflict on his fellow, is, in itself, proof enough that Slavery had corrupted the soul as well as degraded the body. And even if we had been disposed to overlook these facts, the Abolitionists took good care not to let us. They kept them before us. They proved the wickedness of Slavery, in short, mainly by its consequences. Their strongest appeal to the national justice and pity was based on the success of the slave code in accomplishing the objects of its framers.

Within the past two years a portion of these slaves have been liberated. The great majority still remain in the power of their masters. Except a very small number of those who have fallen into our hands, and have, through the exertions of benevolent people at the North, been supplied with facilities for learning to read and write, they are still as ignorant and as degraded, as unused to the exercise, not simply of political, but of the commonest social rights, as ever. They have still to learn that liberty consists in anything better or higher than exemption from the lash, and the receipt of wages. And yet WENDELL PHILLIPS writes to the Cleveland Convention that "There is no plan of reconstruction possible within twenty years, unless we admit the black to citizenship and the ballot, and use him, with the white, as the basis of States. There is not in the rebel States sufficient white basis to build on."

As a large portion of that body were men of his way of thinking, we presume that, though the platform they have adopted does not express this same view in set terms, there can be little doubt that they concur with him in the desire to see the blacks endowed with the elective franchise, and admitted at once to an equal share with the whites in the government of the country. Now either the effects of Slavery on the negroes have been grossly misrepresented—either the condition of a slave has not been such as to prevent the growth of his intelligence, in which case much of our indignation about it has been wasted, or else Mr. PHILLIPS, and at least a part of the "Radicals," are anxious to arm the most ignorant and degraded race of beings to be found in any civilized country with the power of completely silencing the voices of an equal number of Northern whites long trained in the exercise of their political rights, and inheriting the instinct of free government from twenty generations of free ancestors. For to this complexion must it come at last. There has been no mode as yet discovered of providing that the consequences of each man's vote shall only affect himself. When an ignorant or corrupt man casts his ballot into the box, he simply neutralizes the vote of one intelligent and honest man, deprives him of all share in the administration of public affairs; and if ignorant and corrupt men are in a majority, they not only use their own right of sharing in the Government, but they take away that of their betters. If we give the suffrage to a million of Southern blacks, we virtually supply them with the power of excluding one million of white men at the North from the polls. We cannot at once give them either the training or the intelligence, not simply to judge of the value of public measures, but to judge of the character of public men; and yet if this training and intelligence be not necessary, there is no good reason why the franchise should be withheld from children and idiots—to say nothing of women.

The world abroad will ask, and may ask, on reading WENDELL PHILLIPS' plan of reconstruction, what sort of nation must it be which can only be saved from destruction by gravely giving the same weight in the decisions of the highest and most intricate questions of government and in the choice of public servants, to the voice of a negro fresh from Slavery, as that of any lawyer, scholar, soldier or statesman in the country. This is democracy run mad; for it is the open and shameless proclamation of the doctrine that nothing is necessary to constitute a citizen beyond a mouth, a stomach and a pair of legs; and it can come from no party with a worse grace than that which for fifty years has been filling the world with pictures of the horrible consequences to the nation of enforcing ignorance by law.

Effect of the Fall of Richmond.

In our foreign files by the China, received last evening, we find the opinion reiterated in various forms, and with different degrees of emphasis, that "the fall of Richmond will never bring the Northern army one step nearer the conquest of the South."

How does this bear analysis? Richmond is the Capital of the most important Commonwealth south of the parallel of the Potomac. Apart from its status as the rebel Capital, it has been the source and spring of every offensive action of importance that the rebels have originated in this war. Since the fall of Donelson and the battle of Boston Mountains, in Arkansas, the rebel war of the Southwest has been purely defensive, with only here and there an exceptional and temporary recovery of ground. No great strategic point west of the Alleghanies and north of the Georgia line, has presented even more than a temporary base for resistance. How is it with Richmond? Until we record its fall, it would be idle work to illustrate its value as a point of resistance. But as a base of offensive operations, the London strategists may happen to remember that it has been the source and supply of the only great offensive movements the rebels have made in the last three years. It has seen the army of LEE twice across the Potomac, and almost within sight of Baltimore and Philadelphia, since Fort Donelson surrendered to GRANT, since the national army secured its permanent footing in West Tennessee, and since the capture of New-Orleans all but broke the spine of the Confederacy. Through all this history of war Richmond has not only been the centre and mainspring of political action for the rebel organization, but it has struck out on the offensive the only stunning blows the national army can be said to have received thus far.

The London strategist, in holding such a point to be of minor consequence to the military status and offensive power of the rebel Confederacy, not only butts his head against the hardest and plainest facts of history, but he even insinuates (doubtless without meaning it) a most serious and humiliating charge against the judgment of such men as DAVIS and LEE, who have probably sacrificed full half the conscripted forces under their control solely to retain their Richmond base for offensive or defensive purposes, as occasion seemed favorable. It is not unreasonable to ask the London Times and its imitators, on what principle they can pretend to justify such a sacrifice for the defence of a point which, if captured to-morrow, would "bring the North never a step nearer the conquest of the South?" And, again, it is surely worth considering, if DAVIS and LEE have sacrificed so much for the retention of one spot of Southern ground of so little military value, how long can their prodigality last without involving a general collapse? Our British well-wishers would only act in a consistent and logical temper if they indicated where the stand ought really to be taken by DAVIS and his friends. It appears that the Southern managers hold the Commonwealth of Virginia to be of some value, considering that it has supplied a quota to their armies of about one-fourth of their actual strength. But it may not be too late for their friends to advise them to the contrary.

We are not, of course, to suppose that the intelligent critic abroad reflects even for a moment upon the fact of Richmond having any other than a military value in the existing crisis. But most people who have studied the subject here think very much differently. In watching the origin and progress of the war from a near stand-point, it has been discovered that the first aim of the astutest rebel chiefs was not to acquire a military distinction in the eyes of strangers, but to appear before the world as an organized community, with every department of the civil administration in actual operation;—with an army and a navy, it is true—but more especially with a Finance Department, with a system of Judicial administration in actual force, with the machinery of a Post-office, and, in short, with all that constitutes the organization of an independent community. To be recognized in this character abroad was a prerequisite to a recognition as belligerents; and the attainment of that pre-requisite is the cue—as we regard it here—to all the sacrifices which have been made to defend the seat of the rebel Government and maintain its ramifications at whatever sacrifice of men or means. Once break up the centre of political organization in rebeldom, and there ceases to be a community bound together by the ties of a common administration, presenting to the outside world the semblance of national unity. Turn the Richmond administrators out of doors; send them on thier travels; make their locus standi a problem for the intelligent foreigner of the strategic type, and the character and prestige of the concern is gone hopelessly and forever. Our mutual friend abroad may not think so now, because he does not see clearly that leaving Richmond is not only leaving the great Commonwealth of Virginia out in the cold, but resigning all control of the central governing organization of the Confederacy, and notifying the outside world that the Government of Richmond has practically ceased to exist, and that all communications from Europe intended for it, may be retained till further advertisement.

LOSSES OF OFFICERS.—We have lost a very large number of most valuable officers of all grades in the present campaign. We refer not only to general officers, but to colonels, lieutenant-colonels, majors, captains. The proportion of officers who have fallen to the entire loss has been greater than in any previous campaign. The principal reason of this has been the nature of the actions. They have been, to a great extent, of the character of assaults upon the enemy's fortified positions; and in these assaults and charges the officers dismount and lead their men forward, and are, of course, special and prominent targets for the enemy.

The loss of these brave, experienced and capable men is a very heavy one to the army and to the country. Almost universally they have grandly done their whole duty, and have well merited the plaudits and blessings of their country. The leaders have proved themselves worthy of the heroic army they lead.

WALLACK'S THEATRE.—To-morrow evening will be performed, for the benefit of Mr. THEODORE MOSS, the very obliging and efficient Treasurer of this theatre, "BURGUNDY," for the first time this season, and "A Pretty Piece of Business," never before acted here. Mr. MOSS is so well and favorably known to all the theatre-goers of this City, that nothing can be said to add to his popularity, and the simple announcement that he is to have a benefit, will doubtless fill the house to its utmost. The services he rendered in systematizing and superintending the sale of tickets at the great Metropolitan Fair were almost invaluable, and the public will, doubtless, take this occasion to manifest their appreciation of them.

Art Exhibition for the Metropolitan Fair.

The United States Sanitary Commission—Death of Dr. Winslow, of New-York.

WASHINGTON, Tuesday, May 7.

The United States Sanitary Commission's reports from the White House show that the Commission, with their large stock of sanitary supplies and a large corps of relief agents, are rendering valuable services. Yesterday they fed some thousands of wounded brought in from the front to be carried by boats to Washington.

One of the inspectors of the Commission, Dr. GORDON WINSLOW, was lost overboard from the Sanitary Commission steamboat Kepley, this morning, on her return trip from the White House. Dr. WINSLOW had in charge on the Kepley his wounded son, Col. WINSLOW, of the New-York Volunteers.

ARMY OF THE POTOMAC.

Latest from the Front—Further Lists of Casualties.

WHITE HOUSE, VA., Monday, June 6.

The news from the front has been meagre for the last two days. Nothing but skirmishing has occurred except the usual nightly attack for the purpose of feeling our lines and learning whether any change of position is being made.

The charge made on the Second Corps Saturday night resulted in a loss to the rebels of about 300 killed, and over 1,000 wounded, few of whom they carried away, owing to our command of the ground.

Last evening another attack was made, the result of which has not been ascertained.

The wounded have nearly all been brought in from the front, and this place is very much crowded. The facilities for their transportation to Washington seems to be very limited, although large numbers are taken off.

There is a great lack of physicians here. The wounds of hundreds remain undressed for hours, and many needless deaths are the result.

The Aid Societies are very busy distributing their supplies, but the demand is so great that it is impossible to supply all.

A meeting was held last evening to organize a system of relief and facilitate the shipment of supplies to this point, and delegates were appointed to go to Washington and make arrangements.

HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF THE POTOMAC, Sunday, June 5.

The rebels attacked the Second Corps and a portion of the Sixth Corps last evening, but were handsomely repulsed after a desperate struggle. They advanced to the attack several times, and each time their lines were cut to pieces in their attempt to reach our works.

Their losses must have been fearful, for our men shot them down at short range, while our batteries mowed them down in masses.

Our loss was very light. A shell exploded among the members of Gen. HANCOCK'S Staff, one of whom lost a leg.

The report that a train had been captured turns out to be false. The trains are guarded all the way from the White House to the front, principally by the colored troops.

Our men are busily engaged in digging toward the works of the enemy, and the attack last night was made on one of our working parties.

Annexed will be found a list of casualties of yesterday and to-day:

WASHINGTON, Tuesday, June 7.

The steamer Connecticut arrived here to-day with 1,000 men, wounded in the late engagements. Half of these are very severe cases. One man died on the passage up. Eighty of them are officers, among whom are the following: Major Rufus Scott, First New-York Dragoons; Capts. E. T. Richards, Fifty-ninth New-York, J. A. Cline, One Hundred and Fifty-fifth Pennsylvania, F. K. Seib, One Hundred and Sixteenth Pennsylvania, and Lieut. E. K. Kimberly, First Maine Battery.

The steamers Lizzie Baker and General Hooker have also arrived, each with about 400 wounded men on board, including a number of serious cases.

When these vessels left the White House there were about 9,000 wounded there, including a large number of rebels. Several transports were waiting to take them on board.

Our forces were engaged at the White House in throwing up earthworks, to guard against any attempt of the rebels to interfere with our base of supplies.

Rebel prisoners are brought away from the White House daily, and large numbers continue to arrive from the front; and there were some 400 there when the boat left. Among them were a number of officers.

The railroad from the White House toward the front was in complete running order for a distance of four miles, and trains run hourly without interruption.

The steamer Ashland has been taking on board convalescents from the hospitals in Washington, and will sail this evening for New-York, where they will be placed in hospital again.

The bodies of Col. S. KELTON, Second Connecticut Heavy Artillery, Capt. SAMUEL MCKEE, First United States Cavalry, and Capt. J. F. MCFULLOUGH, One Hundred and Fortieth Pennsylvania, were brought up from the White House by the steamer John, which arrived here last night.

These officers were all killed in the recent battles before Richmond, and their bodies will be forwarded North to their friends.

The Central Sanitary Fair.

PHILADELPHIA, Tuesday, June 7.

The Central Sanitary Fair opened this afternoon. Previous to the exercises, an accident occurred, causing a temporary excitement. The platform in the rear of the speakers' stand, erected for the chorus, broke down. Mayor HENRY announced that the unfortunate accident that had just occurred was attended with but small injury to both.

After the firing of a salute, the Mayor then formally opened the fair in an eloquent address.

After a prayer from Bishop SCARLE, the building and its contents were formally transferred to the Executive Committee, and accepted by THOMAS CUTLER on behalf of the people.

Admiral DUPONT was present, and the mention of his name was greeted with hearty cheers.

Bishop SCARLE, on behalf of the President of the United States, then addressed the immense audience assembled.

He regretted the absence of the President, because he would have been delighted to have heard from his own lips the expression of his sympathy with the cause. But he could not be with us—his eyes were on Richmond. He was waiting to give such orders as the interests of the nation demanded. The Bishop alluded to the immense sacrifice of life which had attended the present war, and the necessity for providing means for the nourishment of the wounded. The Sanitary Commission had already collected more than ten millions.

Eloquent addresses were then delivered by the Governors of Delaware, New-Jersey and Pennsylvania. Gov. CURTIN'S remarks created the liveliest enthusiasm.

After singing the Star Spangled Banner, during which the national emblem was raised upon the central flagstaff, the immense audience proceeded to visit the different departments of the spacious structure.

The prospects of the fair are most encouraging.

SECOND DISPATCH.

The accident at the Sanitary Fair this afternoon was not so serious as at first reported. RICHARD SCHMITZ, a soldier employed on guard duty at the fair, has died of his injuries. A lady had her ankle broken, and many others were bruised.

The number of visitors to the fair, this evening, is estimated at seven thousand. The first name placed on the record of honor, a book intended to be preserved in the Philadelphia Library, was that of Gen. GRANT. This was shortly after followed by that of McCLELLAN, to which was added, "Posterity will do him justice." On payment of one dollar any person is at liberty to enter the name of any one who has served in the army or navy since the breaking out of the rebellion.

PROCEEDINGS OF CONGRESS.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, Tuesday, June 7.

THE ABOLITION OF SLAVERY.

Mr. SUMNER, of Massachusetts, (Union,) presented numerous petitions from different States East and West for the abolishment of Slavery by act of Congress, and stated that the mass of the petitioners in this regard now numbered 30,000 of the working classes. He added that Illinois was ahead of all the other States in this respect, which, he said, was through the influence of the ever faithful Owen Lovejoy, now deceased. The whole were referred to the Committee on Slavery and Freedmen.

DISTRICT MATTERS.

Mr. Grimes, of Iowa, (Union,) from the Committee on the District of Columbia, reported back the bill authorizing the Law Court of the County of Washington, D. C., to lay a direct tax upon the people of the county for their portion of the Government tax under the Act of Congress of July, 1861, without amendment.

CONSULAR JURISDICTION.

Mr. Sumner, of Massachusetts, (Union,) from the Committee on Foreign Relations, reported favorably on the bill to provide for the execution of the treaties between the United States and foreign nations relating to consular jurisdiction over the crews of vessels of such foreign nations in waters and ports of the United States.

POSTPONED.

Mr. Pomeroy, of Kansas, (Union,) from the Committee on Public Lands, reported back the bill granting lands to Montana and Dacotah, with a recommendation that they be postponed until next December. Agreed to.

INCREASE OF DUTIES ON IMPORTS.

After discussion the bill was made the special order for Tuesday.

FREEDMEN'S AFFAIRS.

On motion of Mr. Sumner, the bill to establish a Department of Freedmen's Affairs was called up, but, without considering it, the Senate, on motion of Mr. Chandler, went into Executive session and afterward adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

WASHINGTON, Tuesday, June 7.

PRINTING REPORTS.

Mr. Orth, of Indiana, (Union,) offered a resolution that there be printed twenty thousand copies of the Report of the Commissioner of Patents, for the use of the House, and ten thousand for the Commissioner of Patents. The subject was referred to the Committee on Printing.

CHANGING THE RULES.

Mr. Law, of Indiana, (Dem.) submitted an amendment to the rules, so as to admit ex-members of Congress on the floor when the House is in session. The proposition was referred to the Committee on the Rules.

A NEW LOAN.

Mr. Hooper, of Massachusetts, (Union,) from the Committee on Ways and Means, reported a bill to provide ways and means for the support of the Government, by authorizing a loan of four hundred millions of dollars. He moved the bill be printed and recommitted to the Committee on Ways and Means with power to report at any time.

Mr. Cox, of Ohio, (Dem.,) objected to their reporting at any time.

Mr. Hooper said all the loan bills will expire during the present month, and this bill is to provide ways and means for the coming fiscal year.

The bill was recommitted to the Committee on Ways and Means.

THE M'DOWELL MILITARY COMMISSION.

On motion of Mr. Wilson, of Iowa, (Union,) a resolution was adopted requesting President LINCOLN to transmit to the House a copy of the defence, and all the papers and evidence of Gen. SAMUEL S. SUMNER, made before the commission of which Gen. McDOWELL was President, in relation to cotton transactions.

THE GOLD SPECULATION BILL.

The House then resumed the consideration of the Senate bill, prohibiting speculation in coin and bullion.

Mr. HOOPER, of Massachusetts, submitted a substitute for the first section of the bill.

Mr. GANSON, of New-York, (Dem.,) said that this bill could not strengthen the Government, but would throw obstacles in the way of ordinary business transactions. Its effect would be to add to the disrespect for legislative enactments of this character.

Mr. DAVIS, of New-York, (Union,) considered the terms of the bill unconstitutional, and offered a proviso, "that during the operation of this act the laws of trade and gravitation shall be suspended."

Mr. FRANKLIN, of Ohio, (Dem.,) said that under this bill a man could not sell his horse, land, wheat, corn or whisky for gold. All such transactions are rendered illegal, unless payment is made for the same in United States notes, or in the national currency. The design of the bill was to prevent dealing in gold in New-York. There was no constitutional power, however, under which this could be done. Instead of attempting to bolster up a redundant paper currency, the effort should be to reduce the amount of paper money afloat, and not vainly strive to pull down gold.

Mr. WOODBRIDGE, of Vermont, (Union,) said that he was more averse to assisting the government in the present emergency than himself; but, as to the pending bill, no court would say that its provisions could be enforced. There was no warrant for it in the Constitution, or in any law with which he was acquainted.

THE DIPLOMATIC APPROPRIATION BILL.

The subject was laid aside to take up the report of the Committee of Conference on the disagreeing amendments to the Consular and Diplomatic Appropriation Bill.

Mr. KASSON, of Iowa, (Union,) explained the points which were compromised, in effect authorizing the President to appoint thirteen consular clerks to be citizens of the United States, and to be compensated at the rate of $1,000 per annum, and be assigned to such consular duties as he may direct. There shall be no removal excepting for cause, the reason to be submitted to Congress.

The Senate had proposed twenty-five consular pupils, but this number was reduced, and they are to be called clerks.

With regard to the increase of salary of the Minister Resident to Belgium, the committee have restored the first section of the act of 1855, which provides that the President may, whenever he sees proper, send an Envoy Extraordinary to European Courts, but so long as the Minister Resident remains there, the salaries of the latter shall not be increased.

The report was debated by various gentlemen, and then disagreed to—39 against 54.

Another committee of conference was asked for.

THE GOLD BILL.

The House resumed the consideration of the Gold Bill.

Mr. HOOPER, of Massachusetts, (Union,) answered the objections, which he said were rather ingenious and technical than practical, as to the constitutional power to pass the bill. He pointed to the clauses relating to the public welfare, the regulation of commerce, and the power to coin money and to regulate the value thereof.

Mr. DAWES, of Michigan, (Union,) said the bill would be more valuable if all after the enacting clause were stricken out.

Mr. PENDLETON moved to lay the bill on the table. Carried—63 against 67.

An unsuccessful motion was made to reconsider the vote, and to lay that motion on the table.

Mr. WASHBURNE, of Illinois, (Union,) moved to postpone the question of reconsideration until Saturday.

Mr. COX, of Ohio, (Dem.,) moved to lay the whole subject on the table. Disagreed to, 49 against 53. The subject was then postponed till Saturday.

MORE REPORTS WANTED.

Thirty thousand copies of the mechanical part of the Patent-office Report were ordered to be printed.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

Mr. COLE, delegate from Washington, opposed the Senate bill regulating the vote power in that Territory, protesting against the premeditated abridgement of the liberties of the people. He moved to lay the bill on the table, pending which the House adjourned.

Anniversary of the American Medical Society.

The annual session of the American Medical Association was commenced yesterday, in Irving Hall. There were present a large number of prominent Physicians from this and other States. The convention was called to order by Dr. ALTON MARSH. Prayer was offered by Rev. Dr. DE WITT, after which the report of the committee of arrangements was read by the chairman, Dr. ANDERSON. The report explained the objects of the Association, and referred to the recent establishment of St. Luke's Hospital, on Fifth-avenue, and other similar institutions. On the conclusion of the reading the report was unanimously adopted. A very able address was delivered by Dr. MARSH, the out-going President. An election of officers took place in the afternoon. A PROCLAMATION.

And it came to pass in the reign of Abraham, whose surname was Lincoln, in the eighty and sixth year of the Independence of the States of America, that a mighty rebellion arose in that land.

And Abraham said unto Simon from the Keystone State, "Be thou my armor-bearer."

And Simon did as he was commanded, and marshaled immense hosts of young and valiant warriors from the East, even from the Kennebec; from across the great River Mississippi, and from beyond the Rocky Mountains—from every State called he some. And being of the king whose hair curled not a little, they said:

"Those who have risen against us are cowards, and when they behold our banners they will surely run"—but they didn't.

And it came to pass those two mighty armies went forth to fight on the plains of Manassas.

And Simon's men, though valiant and brave, were smote hip and thigh, even so much that they hurried brilliantly back to lean on Abraham's bosom.

And many were slain, but more were wounded.

Then there was great commotion throughout the land. And Abraham called aloud upon the wise men and men of skill to save the sick and give new strength unto the wounded.

And, lo! there arose in the North one Drake, cunning in medicine, but of exceeding modesty.

And when Abraham and the people beheld the wonderful cures which were wrought by Drake, Abraham said: "My children must not suffer;" gives me thy drink to drink, and I will give it a name.

And so Abraham drank, and said there was nothing like it, not even in Sangamon County; that it was bitter to the lips yet good for the stomach; and because there was no name to its lighting the masters of the plantations, it shall for evermore be called Plantation Bitters, and so it has been.

And the wonderful work which it has performed is witnessed at this day in every town, parish, village and hamlet, where the habits of civilization produce dyspepsia, where war creates accidents, and where climate or exposure destroys strength and appetite.

And he said: "Let it be proclaimed throughout the length and breadth of the land, from the valleys and mountain-tops, that all who suffer from fevers, dyspepsia, weakness, loss of appetite, nervous headache and mental despondency will find relief through the Plantation Bitters. They add tone to the stomach and brilliancy to the mind, of which I, O people, am a living example."

And Drake did as he commanded, and got him a place in the great City of New-York. And as many as came in unto him were healed and went on their way rejoicing.

PHI KAPPA SIGMA FRATERNITY.—IOTA CHAPTER.—At a meeting of the Chapter, convened at the lodge room, in the City of New-York, June, 1864, the following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, We have heard with deepest sorrow that our beloved brother DAVID BURR OLYPHANT departed this life on the 16th day of May last, at the City of Paris; and,

Whereas, It is due to the honored memory of our late brother publicly to express the esteem and affection in which he was deservedly held by the members of this Chapter; therefore, be it

Resolved, That in the death of our brother, David B. Olyphant, this Chapter mourns a most faithful and efficient member; one zealously devoted to the maintenance of its dignity, and the advancement of its prosperity; that a link in our circle has been broken which cannot be repaired, and that we are bereft of a steadfast friend, a cherished comrade, and a college-mate whose academic record evinced marked talent, cultivated with unusual industry.

Resolved, That we have lost a rare example of manly independence of character, Christian purity of life, and unswerving adherence to principle; an associate whose steady faith enabling him calmly to meet the approach of the destroyer, and whose resignation during a lingering decline, afford us the consolation and assurance that he has obtained the fruition of his hopes.

Resolved, That in token of respect and sorrow this Chapter assume the usual badge of mourning.

By order of THE CHAPTER.

The present number of HARPER'S NEW MONTHLY MAGAZINE contains additional chapters of "Our Mutual Friend," by CHARLES DICKENS; and of "Denis Duval," by WILLIAM M. THACKERAY. It contains also a continuation of the "Scenes in the War of 1812," by B. J. LOSSING. Two or three more papers will conclude this series. The articles on "Coal and Coal Mining," by Professor HENRY D. ROGERS, presents facts of the utmost importance, showing that by far the greater part of the coal of the globe is deposited within the limits of the United States. HARPER'S MAGAZINE has contained several of the best Serial Novels of Bulwer, Dickens, Thackeray, Lever, Trollope, Reade, Miss Evans and Miss Mulock, besides Essays, Tales and Poems from the foremost American and British writers.

Historical and Biographical Papers, especially those relating to American subjects, have formed a distinctive feature of the Magazine.

The results of the Explorations and Adventures of the most distinguished travelers have been presented in careful abstracts.

The Editorial Departments comprise a careful summary of the history of the times, with comments upon the current topics of thought and remark.

Wherever Pictorial Illustration could add to the value or interest of an article they have been freely used. The Magazine has contained nearly nine thousand engravings.

The Magazine gained at once the foremost place among American periodicals; and its circulation has for years exceeded, as it now exceeds, that of all other periodicals of its class issued in the United States. No effort or cost will be spared by the Publishers to insure that the Magazine shall maintain the position which it has won.

The twenty-eight Volumes of the Magazine contain matter equivalent to nearly three hundred duodecimo volumes, most of this is of permanent value. A complete set of the Magazine will therefore be a desirable acquisition to any private, public, or school library. The Publishers will furnish these in sets, neatly bound in cloth, for Two Dollars and Twenty-five Cents per Volume—$60 for the whole, not cash, the freight to be paid by the purchaser. The same amount of matter with an equal number of illustrations, issued in ordinary volumes, would cost fully four hundred dollars. Any single volume will be sent by mail, post-paid, to any part of the United States, for three dollars; or any single Number for twenty-five cents.

NOTICE.—TO THE STOCKHOLDERS OF THE UNION PACIFIC RAILWAY COMPANY, EASTERN DIVISION, formerly called the LEAVENWORTH, PAWNEE AND WESTERN RAILROAD COMPANY, and all others whom it may concern: At a meeting of the Stockholders of the above named company, held at Leavenworth on the 6th and 7th days of April inst., the following preamble and resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, By the agreement of four parts between this company, John C. Fremont, Ross, Steel & Co., and Edward Learned, approved by this meeting, large and valuable concessions of his interests as a stockholder have been made by said Fremont to promote the speedy completion of the road; and, whereas, it is probable that similar concessions may be agreed to by other stockholders; therefore,

Resolved, That the said Learned, as the financial agent of the company, be authorized and empowered to negotiate with any parties, who are the holders or are interested in stock of the company, for the transfer and delivery to him, as financial agent of such, and so much of said stock as such parties may be willing so to concede, to be by him used, disposed of or distributed, in like manner and for the same purposes, as is in said agreement provided, with reference to the shares agreed to be transferred to said Fremont; and in consideration thereof, the said financial agent is authorized and empowered to mark and indorse upon the certificates of shares which may be returned by such shareholders, severally, or to which they may be entitled upon making any such transfers, that such returned or so entitled shares are full paid and not subject to assessment; provided that such marking or indorsement shall not be made as aforesaid in any case so as to apply or be of effect, as to more shares in this company than shall be equal to one-fourth of the number of shares so transferred to the said financial agent in pursuance hereof by such shareholders respectively, and thereafter all such marked or indorsed certificates shall be deemed full paid for the number of shares embraced in such indorsements respectively, and the stockholders making the concessions and transfers hereinbefore provided for shall forever after be held by the company free from any payments or liabilities for or on account of, or in any manner relating to the shares which they shall so severally transfer to said financial agent.

Resolved, further, In case it shall occur that from any cause any of the shares which may be transferred to the financial agent as aforesaid, or in pursuance of the foregoing contract, shall at any time be found to belong wholly or in part to any other person or party, than the person or party who shall have so transferred the same, the said financial agent shall be and hereby is authorized, to transfer to such person or party, as shall so be found to be the rightful owner thereof, the shares so erroneously transferred to him.

Resolved, That the owners of certificates, obligations, or other memoranda issued in the name or on behalf of the company, which are claimed to entitle such holder to full paid or unassessable shares of the capital stock, or notified by the directors, by public advertisement, or in such other manner as the directors may determine, to present the same, together with any evidences of their right to require such shares to be made full paid or unassessable as aforesaid, to the Executive Committee of the company, in the City of New-York, within sixty days next following the issuing of such notice, respectively, in order that all such certificates, obligations, or memoranda may be identified, and proper formal certificates be issued in lieu thereof, in so far as such holders shall be deemed to be entitled thereto, by said Executive Committee. In case any holder shall refuse or omit to present his certificate, obligation or memorandum, as aforesaid, and for the purposes and within the time aforesaid, or in case any of the evidences furnished as aforesaid shall be deemed by the Executive Committee to be insufficient to entitle the holder to such full paid shares, the officers of the company shall thereafter refuse to recognize or admit any liability of the company to make or issue full paid shares, on account of any such particular certificate, obligations or memoranda, or to treat the same in any manner as full paid shares, except upon the claims of bona fide holders thereof being established by due process of law, or upon competent legal evidence that such claims are substantiated on the merits, in the event of any irregularity or defective equity in the claim of any holder of any such certificate, obligation or memorandum, the Executive Committee are hereby authorized to adjust the claims of any such holder, in such manner as said committee shall deem equitable, and to cause to be issued in settlement thereof such number of full paid shares as said committee shall so deem to be just and equitable.

Pursuant to the foregoing resolutions, and to directions of the Executive Committee, all persons interested are requested to transmit to the undersigned, at his office, No. 46 Pine-st., in the City of New-York, such statements, propositions and papers as will render the proposed benefits available to them respectively, and secure the same within the time prescribed in the resolution; viz. sixty days from the date hereof.

Depositors holding temporary loan certificates bearing a lower rate of interest than six per cent. can present them for payment without notice, for the purpose of redepositing the amount at the rate of six per cent. interest per annum. JOHN J. CISCO, Assistant Treasurer U. S.

NOTICE TO SHAREHOLDERS OF THE PITTSBURGH, FORT WAYNE AND CHICAGO RAILWAY COMPANY.—The undersigned, commissioners, authorized to sell thirty-five thousand new shares of the capital stock of said company, by joint vote of the shareholders and bondholders, for the purpose of constructing a double track, procuring additional equipment, &c., now propose to sell thirteen thousand shares of the same as follows:

They propose to invite to the shareholders, who stand registered as such on the books of the company at 3 o'clock P. M. of the 15th of this month, one share for each five shares then standing in their name at the par value of $100 for an hundred.

Books of subscription will be opened at the office of Winslow, Lanier & Co., No. 52 Wall-st., on the 15th June, and kept open until the 30th June, at 3 P. M., where each shareholder can call and subscribe, or signify his wishes by letter, addressed to J. F. D. Lanier, Chairman. The new shares thus subscribed for will bear dividend from the 1st July proximo.

Payments will be required as follows: One-fourth on the 21st June, on notification of acceptance; one-fourth on the 15th July; one-fourth on the 15th August, and one-fourth on the 15th September.

Transferable stock scrip will be issued, redeemable in full-share certificates on final payment of the installments.

Non-compliance with any of the conditions of this subscription subjects to forfeiture any payments made thereon.

This stock is mainly to pay for iron rails, rolling-stock, &c., already advantageously purchased. The high price of labor, and the great difficulty of procuring the same, and the enhanced rates for all materials, in the opinion of the chief engineer and the chief executive officers of the company, render it altogether improbable that any further amount of the stock will be offered during the present year.

If a further amount can be economically expended in increasing the capacities of the line this year, the company will probably have other means to meet the same.

The commissioners reserve the right to extend the time of subscribing to non-resident shareholders who may desire to avail themselves of the benefits of this notice, on such terms and conditions as the commissioners may impose.

The commissioners, also, reserve the right to dispose of at their discretion, for the benefit of the company, any of the shares not taken by shareholders under this notice.

GROCERIES & PROVISIONS.

VALUABLE INFORMATION.

The discoverer, for the sum of twenty-five dollars, will impart to parties interested a secret by which an article of cream tartar can be made, the cost of which will not exceed twelve cents per pound; the strength, color and baking properties of which are equal to pure cream tartar. NATIONAL UNION CONVENTION

gree. I know very well that my colleagues will stand solidly if they believe what I say, and they think, know it; but we have got our backs toward the way in which we intend to go, and we will go in it to the end. If we are to perish, we will perish in that way. All I have to say to you is, Help us if you can; if you cannot, believe in your hearts that we have acted like men. [Great cheering.]

On motion of Mr. S. A. Shaw, of Massachusetts, Mr. F. M. Dunn, of New-York, and E. N. Bateos, of Connecticut, were appointed temporary Secretaries.

Rev. Mr. Riley was introduced by the Chairman, and invoked the Divine blessing upon the proceedings of the convention.

On motion of Simon Cameron, a list of the States was called, so as to furnish the Secretaries with a list of the names of the delegates present. With the States were called each delegation sent to the Secretary a roll containing the names of the delegates.

Only States, not Territories, were included in the roll.

Mr. Stevens, of Pennsylvania, moved that if there were any delegates here from the States in secession, the names of such delegates be sent to be submitted to the Committee on Credentials, but that such States be not called.

Mr. Lane, of Kansas, opposed the motion and urged that all the States and Territories be called, and that the credentials of all be handed in alike, the question to be decided by the Committee on Credentials.

Mr. Maynard, of Tennessee, also most eloquently urged that the claims of those suffering men in the States in rebellion should not be thus slighted. He was greeted with a storm of applause.

After considerable debate a motion to call the names of all the States prevailed, including a motion of Mr. Lane, of Kansas, that the Territories of Colorado, Nevada and Nebraska, should also be included, as these Territories were now organizing State Governments under an enabling act of Congress, and would cast their vote as States at the next Presidential election.

The other Territories were then called and all were found to be represented.

On motion the rules of the House of Representatives were adopted as the rules of this Convention.

On motion of Mr. Lane all the States, except Missouri, which had sent two sets of delegates, were called upon for name one member to compose the Committee on Credentials.

The following gentlemen were then named as the Committee on Credentials:

E. W. Norris, of Maine; R. J. Cole, of New-Hampshire; Edward Hammond, of Vermont; Jas. Rodgers, of Massachusetts; H. M. Fay, of Rhode Island; Augustus Brandegee, of Connecticut; Preston King, of New-York; Joseph M. Scovell, of New-Jersey; Andrew H. Reeder, of Pennsylvania; E. S. Bradford, of Delaware; H. E. Goldsborough, of Maryland; Samuel Lusk, of Kentucky; G. V. Dorsey, of Ohio; Jesse J. Brown, of Indiana; J. Wilcox Stoner, of Illinois; Morah Gettings, of Michigan; H. M. Cassidy, of Wisconsin; George Dr. Wurtzler, of Iowa; W. L. Butler, of Minnesota; John Bidwell, of California; Hiram Smith, of Oregon; Wm. E. Stevenson, of Western Virginia; M. H. Insley, of Kansas.

The States were again called to name a committee to select permanent officers for the convention.

On motion the convention next appointed, in the same manner, a Committee on Resolutions, as follows:

Jas. H. Drummond, Maine; David Rees, New-Hampshire; E. P. Walton, Vermont; T. Wentworth, Massachusetts; E. Harris, Rhode Island; W. W. Bitner, Connecticut; H. J. Raymond, New-York; Cortlandt Parker, New-Jersey; M. B. Lowry, Pennsylvania; Jacob Moore, Delaware; Hugh Lennox Bond, Maryland; Jos. Speed, Kentucky; Aaron F. Perry, Ohio; Wm. Dunn, Indiana; Elisha B. Perry, Illinois; C. J. Conger, Michigan; E. Salomon, Wisconsin; Wm. Stone, Iowa; William Bustail, Minnesota; Thompson Campbell, California; Thos. H. Pearn, Oregon; C. D. Hall, Western Virginia; A. Carter Wilder, Kansas.

The convention adjourned at 3 o'clock until 7 o'clock this evening.

EVENING SESSION.

The convention reassembled at half-past seven o'clock. The hall was again densely crowded. Many ladies were present in the dress circle.

At a quarter to eight o'clock the Chairman called the convention to order.

A. R. McCline, from the Committee on Permanent Organization, made the following report of officers for the permanent organization:

PRESIDENT,

Hon. Wm. Dennison, of Ohio.

VICE-PRESIDENTS.

Maine, Nathan M. Farwell; New-Hampshire, Onslow Stearns; Vermont, Henry Stowell; Massachusetts, Moses Kimball; Rhode Island, Joseph De Wolf Perry; Connecticut, H. A. Grant; New-York, Lyman Tremaine; New-Jersey, W. A. Newell; Pennsylvania, W. W. Ketchem; Delaware, George R. Tybout; Maryland, A. C. Green; Kentucky, J. E. Hazard; Ohio, D. Tod; Indiana, J. Beard; Illinois, J. N. Brown; Michigan, Chas. T. Gorham; Wisconsin, J. F. Potter; Iowa, G. W. McCrary; Minnesota, Charles M. Dailey; California, Robert Gardner; Oregon, Fred. Chenoweth; West Virginia, C. D. Hubbard; Kansas, F. W. Potter.

SECRETARIES.

Maine, Nathaniel Morrill; New-Hampshire, Edward Spaulding; Vermont, Horace Fairbanks; Massachusetts, George A. Shaw; Rhode Island, Joel M. Spencer; Connecticut, Samuel L. Warner; New-York, William R. Stuart; New-Jersey, Edward Brettle; Pennsylvania, John Stuart; Delaware, Benjamin Burton; Maryland, L. Straughn; Kentucky, A. G. Hodges; Ohio, J. C. Devin; Indiana, John W. Ray; Illinois, Lorenz Brentano; Michigan, W. A. Noyes; Wisconsin, C. C. Tholes; Iowa, D. J. Stodds; Minnesota, Charles Taylor; California, James Otis; Oregon, J. W. Scather; West Virginia, Granville D. Hale; Kansas, W. W. H. Lawrence.

The report of the committee having been accepted with enthusiastic applause, the Chairman appointed Senator Lane and Hon. G. A. Grow a committee to conduct Gov. Dennison to the chair. His appearance on the platform was greeted with vociferous applause.

As soon as quiet was obtained, Mr. Dennison addressed the convention as follows:

Gentlemen of the Convention: I thank you for the honor you have conferred upon me, and while I will bring to the discharge of the duties of the chair little experience in parliamentary rules, it will be my pleasure, as far as my duty is spare no effort in contributing to the extent of my ability to the facilitating the business of the convention and securing such results from your deliberations as will meet the loyal expectations of the country. We meet here as representatives of the true friends of the Government and of imperial liberty, of that large portion of the people who gratefully appreciate the unmatched blessings which flow from our institutions well administered, and reject every form of human enslavement, and in particular every form of it as are less incompatible with the rights of humanity than with the genuine and peaceful workings of republican government. As in a sense do we meet as members or representatives of either of the old political parties which bound the people, or as the champions of any principle or doctrine peculiar to either. The extraordinary condition of the country since the outbreak of the rebellion, arising from necessity taken for the issues of those parties, partly partial significance, and compelled the formation of substantially new political organizations; hence the origin of the Union party. If party it can be called, of which this convention is for the purpose of its assembling the accredited representative, and the only test of membership in which is an unreserved, unconditional loyalty to the Government and the Union. Let me congratulate you upon the favorable auspices of your meeting, while the deepest anxiety is felt by all patriotic men as to a war unjustifiably forced upon the Government, by the bad, ambitious men and their deluded followers in the rebellious States, and the country is filled with distress and mourning over the loss of so many of our brave men who have fallen in battle, or died in hospitals from wounds received in defence of the constitutional authority of the Government, we yet have in what has been accomplished toward the suppression of the rebellion and the extinguishment of the cause; in the heroic deeds of our noble armies and gallant navy; in the survival of the patriotism of the country that almost seemed to be paralyzed under the influences of our national prosperity; in the unprecedented generosity of the people awakened by the wants of the Government and the necessities of its defenders; much, very much, of the highest delectation, and for which the country is grateful to Almighty God; and may I not add to these causes of congratulation the formation of the political organization of which this convention is a representative, which has so nobly sustained the Government in its efforts to put down the rebellion, and to the complete accomplishment of which its energies are concentrated. The patriotic harmony that has marked our assembling, and will characterize all our proceedings, and promote that harmony which will display itself on the unanimous nomination for the Presidency of the United States of the wise and good man, whose unselfish devotion to the country in the administration of the Government has secured to him not only the admiration, but the warmest affection of every friend of constitutional liberty. I need not remind you of the very grave responsibilities that devolve upon you as members of this convention. The loyal people of the country have authorized and expect you to renew, on their part, the pledge of their faith to support the Government in the most vigorous prosecution of the war to the complete suppression of the rebellion, regardless of the time or the resources required to that end, and they equally expect and call upon you to declare the cause and support of the rebellion to be Slavery, which, as well for its treasonable offences against the Government as for its incompatibility with the rights of humanity and the permanent peace of the country, must, with the termination of the war, and as much speedier as possible, be made to cease forever to every State and Territory in the Union. But I must not refer to other subjects of interest than with abstinence your patience. Let me renew my thanks for your expression of confidence in me, in having selected me to preside over your deliberations. [Applause.]

At the suggestion of the chair, a committee on the order of business was appointed.

Neither the Committee on Credentials nor the Committee on Resolutions being prepared to report, Mr. Stevens moved the convention adjourn till to-morrow morning.

It was announced that Parson Brownlow was in the hall, and it was hoped that an opportunity would be afforded to hear that eminent representative of suffering Tennessee. [Great applause.]

Mr. Stevens withdrew his motion to adjourn, and on motion of Mr. Parsons, of New-York, the Parson was invited to address the convention. As the Parson made his appearance in the body of the House, he was greeted with deafening applause. The convention and audience rose to their feet, and amid the waving of hats and handkerchiefs, the gallant old loyalist of East Tennessee advanced to the Chairman's stand, where he was welcomed by President Dennison and introduced to the convention. He spoke as follows:

Gentlemen of the Convention: I assure you you have to-night waked up the wrong passenger. I am a very sick man and ought to be in my bed, and not here. I have journeyed on, however, through great tribulation, to meet you. The last regular meal I took was on Saturday, upon a boat on the Ohio River. I am sick, sick, and I come forward because so enthusiastically called for, to make my bow and apologize for not attempting to speak. But before I take my seat, I know you will take of me kindly any suggestion I may make, or any rebuke I may administer to you. I am one of the elder brethren, one of the old apostles; [laughter;] and I heard when I came to town that you had some doubts in your mind about the propriety of admitting the delegation from Tennessee, a State in rebellion. I hope you will pause, gentlemen, before you commit so rash an act as that, and thereby recognize secession. We don't recognize it in Tennessee. [Applause.] We deny that we are out. [Applause.] We deny that we have been out. [Applause.] We maintain that the minority first voted us out, and then a majority whipped the minority out of the State with bayonets, and drove once a portion of our men to their ranks; but we are here to participate in your deliberations and tells and show you honor. I pray you not to exclude us. We have a full delegation from Tennessee—a patriotic delegation—a talented delegation, all excepting the present speaker. [Laughter.] Our best men are here. We have in Tennessee, as you have in most of the Northern States, a Copperhead party, just beginning to come into existence. They have existed here a good while. I have fought the venomous reptiles for the last two years. But they are beginning to organize in Tennessee, and I confidently look for them to be represented at the forth-coming Chicago Convention, and to send up a delegation then under the nose and scent of that pink of virtue of the Chicago Times. The delegation that our State sends up to you would scorn to go to the Chicago Convention. They would decline having anything to do with the late Cleveland Convention. [Applause.] We are for the Baltimore-Lincoln-Arming-of-Negro Convention. [Applause.] We are for the convention of the party that are resolved to put down this wicked, this infernal rebellion at all hazards, and at costs of money and lives, and our delegation instructed us before we left home to advocate and vote for Abraham Lincoln, first, last and all the time. [Applause.] He has got his hand in; he has learnt the hang of the ropes, and we want to try him for a second term. Let us get along in harmony. There need be no detaining of this convention for two days in discourses of various kinds, and the idea I suggest to you as an inducement not to throw out our delegation is, that we may take it into our hearts, before the thing is over, to present a candidate from that State in rebellion for the second office in the gift of the people. [Applause.] We have a man down there whom it was my good luck and privilege to fight unfriingly for the last twenty-five years—Andrew Johnson. [Applause.] For the first time in the providence of God, three years ago, we got together on the same platform, and we are now fighting the devil, Tom Walker and Jeff. Davis, side by side. [Applause.] I never refuse to speak when I am able to speak, and my old friend, Deacon Bates, knows it well. I should like to help him canvass Illinois, and gouge for him among these Copperheads. If I were able to speak, and could interest you, I would. But I am sick and must be excused. I thank you for the honor you have done me.

The Parson then retired, and on motion, the convention adjourned until Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock.

A lady in this city has, during the past year, realized sixteen hundred dollars from the sale of wax flowers. This fascinating art is becoming nearly as popular here as in England, where ladies of all classes practice it in common with painting, drawing, embroidery, &c. A new and delightful little guide, book in the manufacture of flowers and fruits, sheets of wax, etc., which will enable any person of taste to excel in either branch of the art, has just been published in Boston by Messrs. J. E. Tilton & Co. It is called "Wax Flowers and How to Make Them," with new rules for shesting wax, moulding fruit, etc. The same firm have just published an elegant little manual on making skeleton bouquets, and on the art of preserving natural flowers in all their fresh beauty.—Boston Transcript.

DEAFNESS AND CATARRH.

No. 39 Forsyth-st., New-York, Oct. 1, 1863.

Dr. Von Eisenberg:

Dear Sir: Without recapitulating the numerous benefits I have received through your wonderful cure of the deafness I have labored under many years, the blessings I enjoy will convince the most skeptical.

I have tried many aurists, in Europe and America, without success. I was still deaf as a post.

Three years ago I entered your office, underwent one operation, hoping, yet doubting, I should receive any relief, but was agreeably disappointed in finding the genius of your profession.

The innate skill you possess cured my deafness in one almost painless operation.

The joy I experienced was indescribable; 'twas a new life to me.

My hearing is perfect to this day.

I strongly advise all who are suffering undera difficulty of hearing, or total deafness, to consult you immediately, as I also personally recommend all who apply to me. The numerous calls trespass on my time and patience, yet, remembering my own long, weary affliction causes me to pity them.

This is not written to advertise your well-known, universal reputation—that would be puerile; but as a measure of precaution, to induce all to call on you at once, without troubling me; yet I do not refuse to see any one who comes to me. This is the only way I can show my gratitude.

I also call the attention of those who are suffering from Catarrh, which disease I have labored under one year or more.

I experienced difficulty in breathing, languor, heaviness over the eyes, a sense of tightness on the brain, and copious expectorations of a hard and viscid nature. Accompanying this is a "polypus," quite filling the right nostril. On the 25th ult. you operated on both, killing the polypus, which is gradually passing away, and giving me great relief from the Catarrh. One more operation will effectually cure.

This testimonial brings with it my unalloyed and grateful thanks, with but a poor estimation of your wondrous skill as an Aurist.

I am, Sir, yours very gratefully,

EDWARD TEMPLE HARRISON.

FROM THE HOME JOURNAL, JUNE 4, 1864.

In every business or profession, indeed, in every department of science or skill, there is always some acknowledged head—some one who stands out in bold relief among his fellows, as a sort of leader. In the study and treatment of deafness and catarrh, as special diseases, Dr. E. B. LIGHTHILL, of this City, occupies just the position above described. He has devoted years of labor to this specialty, and is now reaping the reward of his industry. The editorial columns of the Tribune, of a recent date, bear witness to the doctor's success in this department of medicine. We quote the paragraph:

"Cure of a Deaf Mute.—Louis Loewenstein, a lad 16 years of age, born in Germany, came to this City when he was about two years old. Soon after his arrival here he was taken sick and lost his hearing. By degrees he became first deaf, and then dumb. For nearly ten years he was a mute, unable to hear the loudest voice, or to articulate a word. About one year ago he was placed by his parents in the hands of Dr. LIGHTHILL, who has so far succeeded in restoring to him his lost powers of hearing and utterance that he can converse with those who speak to him distinctly and deliberately. During the past four or five months he has been under the tuition of Mr. Bennecke, and has made considerable progress in reading and arithmetic."

Having been supplied with the lad's address, we further investigated the matter, and discovered that previous to calling on Dr. LIGHTHILL, the youth's case was considered hopeless, and he was for two years an inmate of the Deaf and Dumb Asylum. The Rev. John Nott, D. D., Professor in Union College, Schenectady, in a published letter, tenders his gratitude to Dr. LIGHTHILL for treating successfully his case of deafness. Rev. Fred. S. Jewell, Professor of the State Normal School at Albany, also testifies to having been cured of catarrh. Dr. LIGHTHILL possesses other written testimonials and tributes to his talent from some of our wealthiest and most prominent and respected citizens, which may be seen on application. It would be difficult to speak in any but terms of praise of his treatment, in the face of these many proofs and facts testifying to his success.

CATARRH CURED.

FROM REV. FRED. S. JEWELL,

PROFESSOR OF THE STATE NORMAL SCHOOL, ALBANY, N. Y.

This may certify that I have been, since 1844, subject to violent periodical attacks of catarrh, marked by a highly inflamed condition of the lining membrane of the cavities of the head, producing a most distressing species of headache, for days at a time, wholly incapacitating me from business, and, during the paroxysms, confining me to the bed. In some instances the inflammation has extended to the teeth, occasioning toothache; to the throat, producing hoarseness and partial loss of voice; and twice it has so affected the left eye as to confine me for a month or more to a darkened room. These attacks have been accompanied by strong fibrila symptoms; by stoppages of the head, and in the first stages by watery discharges from the nose, and subsequently becoming acrid and yellow, and, toward the close of the attack, becoming bloody and purulent. I have tried medicines of almost every kind; external applications to the head, such as camphor, ginger, hot vinegar, snuffs of some half dozen kinds, and other catarrhal preparations, together with internal remedies, such as alteratives, cathartics and emetics. These have produced no change in the occurrence or character of the disease, and, in most cases with little or no temporary relief. I had come, at length, to believe the disease to be practically beyond either cure or material alleviation.

Under these circumstances, I was led, some five months ago, to make a trial of Dr. Lighthill's treatment. His method at once approved itself to my judgment as simple, philosophical, and likely to be effective. Notwithstanding the disadvantages under which he labored in dealing with a disease of such long standing, aggravated by nervous debility and dyspepsia, and constantly induced by the accidents of my professional labor, I found the treatment reaching the disease as it had never been reached before, and producing such a modification and alleviation of its character as I had supposed impossible. I chronicle the result thus:

Although I have been situated several times so that I should formerly have believed a severe attack of my catarrh inevitable, I have escaped thus far; the symptoms of threatened attack have been very light, and have yielded to the remedies employed by Dr. Lighthill, without the need of recourse to the old hot fomentations, or emetics, and the discharges from the head have resumed the original and natural condition. That I have been able to obtain so material a relief is to me a cause of gratitude. In that alone I am repaid for whatever the treatment may have cost me.

I make this statement unsolicited, as a means of acknowledging my obligations to Dr. Lighthill's method of treating catarrh, and with a view to aid any who may have suffered from that disease in forming a just opinion of its merits, and its probable utility in their own case.

FREDERICK S. JEWELL.

DR. W. R. HERWIN & CO.'S COLUMN

For the

CHEROKEE MEDICINES.

Compounded from Roots, Barks and Leaves.

CHEROKEE REMEDY, the great Indian Diuretic, cures all diseases of the Urinary organs, such as Incontinence of the Urine, Inflammation of the Bladder, Inflammation of the Kidneys, Stone in the Bladder, Stricture, Gravel, and is especially recommended in those cases of Fluor Albus where all the old nauseous medicines have failed.

CHEROKEE INJECTION OR WASH is intended as an ally or substitute to the Cherokee Remedy.

Its effects are healing, soothing and demulcent; removing all scalding, heat and pain, instead of the burning and almost unbearable pain that is experienced with nearly all other quack injections.

By the use of the Cherokee Remedy and Cherokee Injection—the two medicines at the same time—all improper discharges are removed in male or female.

CHEROKEE CURE!

An unfailing cure for Spermatorrhea, Seminal Weakness, Nocturnal Emissions, and all diseases caused by self-abuse, such as loss of Memory, Universal Lassitude, Pains in the Back, Dimness of Vision, Premature Old Age, Weak Nerves, Difficulty of Breathing, Trembling, Wakefulness, Eruptions, Pale Countenance, Insanity, Consumption, and all the dreadful complaints caused by departing from the path of nature.

This medicine is a simple vegetable extract, and can be which all can rely, as it has been used in our practice for many years, and with thousands treated, it has not failed in a single instance. Its curative powers have been sufficient to subdue the most stubborn cases.

To those who have trifled with their constitution until they think themselves beyond the reach of medical aid, we would say, Despair not! The Cherokee Cure will restore you to health and vigor, and after all quack doctors have failed.

DR. WRIGHT'S REJUVENATING ELIXIR, OR ESSENCE OF LIFE.

This medicine is the result of modern discoveries in the vegetable kingdom, and is entirely new and different from any preparation known for the class of diseases for which this is intended. It contains no minerals. It is one of the greatest restoratives for the poor, debilitated, worn-down and despairing devotees of pleasure ever discovered. It will restore to manly health and full power those who have become enfeebled by excesses of pleasure, and cause their appetites to scarcely flag in the luxuries of life.

This ELIXIR cures Hysteria, General Debility, Palpitation of the Heart and Impotency. It restores mental power and the appetite, and causes the rose to mount the cheek of pale, and the debilitated man or woman to feel vigorous and strong, the young and ambitious blood to course through every vein, the nerves to become strong, and the fires of youth and vigor to reanimate the entire body, building up the constitution, restoring joy and life to many a sad and darkened friends.

Patients living at a distance need not hesitate because of their inability to visit us. We have treated successfully the afflicted in all portions of the world, by correspondence.

Parties addressing us should state the disease and symptoms, and the full particulars in regard to their cases, in order to give a full knowledge of their condition, and, unless a cure is possible, we will not hold out inducements to them in order to sell our medicines.

☞ They cure Nervous and Spinal Affections, pains in the back and lower parts of the body, Weakness, Fatigue on slight exertion, Palpitation of the Heart, Lowness of Spirits, Hysteria, Sick Headache, Giddiness, &c., &c. In a word, by removing the irregularity, they remove the cause, and and with it all the effects that spring from it. Composed of simple vegetable extracts, they contain nothing deleterious to any constitution, however delicate.

The CHEROKEE MEDICINES are sold by all enterprising druggists in the civilized world. Some unprincipled dealers, however, try to sell worthless compounds in place of these—those which they can get at a cheap price and make more money by selling than they can on the Cherokee Medicines. As you value your health—aye, the health of your offspring—do not be deceived by such unprincipled druggists.

We send all of the Cherokee Medicines by express (except the Cherokee Pills, these are sent by mail, free,) on receipt of price, to any part of the civilized world, securely packed, in such a manner that no one through whose hands they may pass would know the contents.

Ladies or gentlemen can address us in perfect confidence, and we will in all cases frankly answer their letters, and give our opinion of each individual case. We prescribe no minerals.

If the druggists will not buy them for you, write to us, and we will send them to you, by express.

For full particulars inquire at your nearest druggist for our thirty-two page pamphlet. If you are unable to procure it where you live, write us, inclosing postage stamps, and we will inclose it in a securely sealed envelope, free from observation.

All letters asking advice or ordering our medicines, will meet with prompt attention.

CONSTITUTION

COMPOSED OF

IODIDE POTASSIUM,

with the Compound Concentrated Fluid Extract of

VALUABLE MEDICINAL

ROOTS AND HERBS,

PREPARED BY WM. H. GREGG, M. D.,

Graduate College of Physicians and Surgeons, N. Y., formerly Assistant Physician Blackwell's Island Hospitals, late Medical Inspector New-York State Volunteer Depots, under Gov. Edwin D. Morgan.

CONSTITUTION LIFE SYRUP

HAS PRODUCED

A REVOLUTION IN MEDICINE!

What may seem almost incredible, is, that many diseases hitherto considered hopelessly incurable, are frequently cured in a few days or weeks, and we cheerfully invite the investigations of the liberal-minded and scientific to cures which have no parallel at the present day.

Our medicine is peculiar; by it the seat of any disease is directly reached, and the equilibrium restored.

Those who have suffered long from painful and chronic diseases.

Those who have vainly sought relief from advertised medicines.

Those who cannot be cured by other physicians—

ARE INVITED TO USE CONSTITUTION LIFE SYRUP.

During the past five years we have contended with obstacles and overcome opposition as invincible as were ever encountered by any reformers.

RAPIDITY OF CURE.

Some say, "Your cures are too quick," while others doubt their permanence, and think that disease can only be cured by the "slow recuperative process of Nature."

This is our reply:

In health, the body, like a well-balanced scale, is in a state of equilibrium. But when from any cause down goes one side of the scale, we have the effects of disease. What is requisite is, to restore the normal balance of the scale.

CONSTITUTION LIFE SYRUP,

a positive and specific remedy for all diseases originally from an IMPURE STATE OF THE BLOOD, and for all (hereditary) DISEASES transmitted from PARENT TO CHILD.

PARALYSIS.

HEMIPLEGIA. PARESIS. PARAPLEGIA. PARALYSIS AGITANS.

It is so universally admitted that Constitution Life Syrup is the only effective means of restoration in the various forms of Paralysis, that we need not reiterate that it is emphatically the Great Life-giving Power.
